BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The principal matter of interest at the Monday night meeting of the board of aldermen, was the long debate on $200 per day for city laborers. Fully a hundred men were present in the gallery while this matter was pending and after it had been acted upon, the noise made in passing out caused a temporary suspension of business.

President Carter was in the chair and the only absentees were Aldermen Day Stone and Webster.

No one appeared at the hearing on the proposed removal of three trees on Vista avenue and the hearing was closed.

Charles F. Rogers and J. Franklin Ryder were reappointed Assessors for two years from Feb. 1, 1907 and promptly confirmed, with 16 votes each.

Mayor Warren sent in his first veto, disapproving of the order accepting the "smoke nuisance" act on the grounds that there was no public hearing had been held. The veto was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mayor Warren also sent in the report of Mr. A. D. Albee, expert accountant, on his examination of the books of the city treasurer. He also transmitted the claim of Lelia A. Vose for damages caused by slipping on ice and it was referred to the Claims Committee. The Board of Health also asked the Board then the Mayor for an appropriation for a new automobile. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

A communication from the Board of Health recommending a sewer in Wildwood avenue and a petition of O'Connell et al for the same were referred to the Committee on Public Works. Other matters referred to this committee were petitions from C. H. Cook et al for concrete sidewalks under betterment act on Nehoiden road and Irvington street, of C. E. Currier for sewer in St. James street, of Currier et al for widening St. James street, of Mrs. J. C. Buffum et al for sewer in Beacon street, and Pine Ridge road, and of Congdon et al for sewers in Pontiac road, Rocky road, Carlton road, Waban avenue, Mossfield road and Nehoiden road.

E. A. Robinson was granted a renewal of his Auctioneer's license, and hearings on May 6 were ordered upon petition of the Newton Street Railway Co. for location of tracks across Centre street bridge, Newton Centre and on petition of G. N. B. Sherman to sell denatured alcohol. Hearings on April 15 were ordered on petitions of the Telephone Co. to remove a pole on Parker and Cypress streets and to construct conduits on Waltham and Webster streets.

Alderman Doherty caused quite a discussion with a motion to extend a permit to move a building so as to include 125 feet more of Adams street. The matter was referred to the City Solicitor who subsequently rendered his opinion that the original permit was sufficient authority for such moving.

A communication from the Cape Cod Pilgrim Monument Association asking for $45 for a memorial stone for the city in the proposed monument at Provincetown was referred to the Finance Committee.

On favorable report of the Franchise Committee Thomas Casey was granted permission to move a building from Washington street to Walnut street.

On favorable report of the Public Works Committee, a hearing was ordered on April 15 on construction of concrete sidewalk on Bellevue street under the betterment act.

On favorable report of the Committee on Claims $100 was authorized for settlement of claim of George Hennessey. On report of the same committee, leave to withdraw was granted A. G. Sullivan & Co. on claim for damages to horses and to Fred W. Brown for personal injuries received on Cherry street.

On favorable report of the Finance Committee $1638.75 received from the state on account of exterminating moths was credited to the Moth Work appropriation. On report of the same committee $2 per week was ordered paid to Hibbard S. Howland for Soldiers Relief.

On report of the Committee on Rules, the ordinance relieving the Health Department of the work of removing ashes was passed to be ordained.

The debate of the evening came upon the majority report of the Finance Committee recommending leave to withdraw on petition of O'Connell et al for the establishment of a minimum rate of wages at $2 per day for city laborers. The majority report stated that it did not believe it good precedent and it was unsound business policy to establish a minimum wage. The report was approved by Aldermen Bosson, Burr, Holmes and Hall. Alderman Lyons filed a minority report recommending that permanent laborers be paid a minimum wage of $2 per day.

Alderman Bosson said:—I wish to state that the committee on finance have studied this subject long and carefully, and I believe conscientiously, from the various points of view.

From forty cities and towns in the state I have gathered the information that 23 of the 40 pay $2.00 or more, 17 pay less than $2, 10 pay $1.75, 3 pay less than $1.75, 3 pay $1.80, one pays $1.85. From the petitioners' standpoint it is not unreasonable that they should ask to be paid the same rate of wages so many other cities pay, but I wish to call particular attention to this fact, that if the petition should be granted the obligation would be upon the city to pay in every instance, at least $2 per day, while at the present time it should be borne in mind that there is no obligation not to pay $2.00 or whatever the conditions call for. The conditions are understood, studied and dealt with more intelligently by the executive departments than they can be by the legislative department. With experience with the work done, knowledge of the men and their worth to the city, it is unreasonable to assume that this subject has been handled more wisely in the past, is being at the present time and ought to be in the future, (by the executive departments) than it could be by members of the Board of Aldermen, who come and go, and average comparatively little knowledge of what city employees ought to be paid from time to time.

If a rate be established by the Board it will be far reaching and place upon the city an obligation which at some later time may prove to be unfair and burdensome if maintained, and exceedingly difficult to reduce.

Why legislate to establish what is assumed by some to be a fair rate of wages, when a fair rate may and should be paid without such legislation. The item of cost to the city is not the great question involved in the petition but for the information of the Board I would state that during normal times the city employs an average of 170 men. An advance of twenty-five cents a day for 250 working days would amount to $16,250 for the year. This is estimated to increase the tax rate sixteen cents per thousand. During 1906 and at the present time the average number of men for the street department is 142 at $1.75, 70 at $2.00, and 25 at $2.25. In the water department there are 30 at $1.75, making a total of 267 men. An advance of 25c a day for this number would amount to $16,637.50 for the year of 250 days. We do not expect to continue this number however, after the grade crossing work is finished, but it illustrates the point that if the city is committed to a rate, it must persist when unusual work is needed to be done as well as to normal times. The city must

You Don't Have To

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug listed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

NEW PASTOR OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, NEWTON CENTRE.

REV. MAURICE A. LEVY.

Rev. Maurice A. Levy who assumed the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Newton Centre this week, preaches his first sermon next Sunday morning. There will be no formal installation service.

Maurice Ambrose Levy was born in Townsend, September 13, 1874, the son of Adolph M. and Ellen (Stickney) Levy. The father was a brave soldier and a man of scholarly attainments. He was a junior at Harvard college in the class of 1893, at the time of the Civil war, and enlisted in the 38th Massachusetts in infantry. In the second assault upon Port Hudson he was wounded. Mr. Levy, the younger, attended the public schools of Townsend and Sandusky, O. He was graduated from the Townsend high school in 1891, and from Cushing academy, Ashburnham, in 1893. In the fall of that year he entered Williams college, where he was graduated in 1897 with Phi Beta Kappa honors. His theological studies were pursued at the Newton Theological Institution from which he was graduated in 1900. During his seminary course, and for a year after, he was the pastor of the First Baptist church of Hingham. In April, 1901, he was called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Medford, and began his duties in May of that year. He was married June 14, 1899, in the Baptist church at West Townsend, to Miss Mable Deland, of Lynn. They have one son, Maurice Eugene Levy, born April 26, 1902. It may be interesting to note that in the same little church at West Townsend in which Mr. Levy was married, he also attended Sunday school, was converted, baptized, licensed to preach, and was ordained to the ministry.

At the present time Mr. Levy is a member of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Baptist Missionary society, and also of the Northern Baptist Education society, and is serving his second year as president of the Middlesex Central Christian Endeavor union.

During the nearly six years of his pastorate in Medford, the First Baptist church membership has increased about 25 per cent., with a corresponding increase in the morning congregations. The popular and largely attended Sunday evening services, however, have been the main feature of the growth of the church. In 1901, the first year of Mr. Levy's pastorate here, the average attendance at the Sunday evening services was less than 100. During the month of January last the congregations averaged over 300.

Mr. Levy's activities have not been confined to his own parish. He has responded to frequent calls from far and near to address conventions and Young Men's Christian associations to assist in conferences, and to give after dinner speeches. He was one of the speakers at the Baptist anniversary held last May in Dayton, O. He has also taken an active part in the Young People's Forward Missionary movement, conducting the Pastors' institute at the Silver Bay conference, Lake George, N. Y., in July, 1906.

In its account of the resignation of Mr. Levy, the Medford Mercury says:—The fact that Mr. Levy is to leave Medford will be a cause for sincere regret, not alone to his parishioners, but also to the great body of the citizens of this city, by whom he is held in the highest esteem. His distinguished abilities have become widely recognized, and his large-hearted sympathies for each and all with whom he has come in contact have won for him a warm place in the hearts of the people. He is an eloquent orator, preaching without notes, and full of energy and deep religious feeling. The church in Newton is to be congratulated on securing him, and no doubt, under his magnetic influence, a new impetus will be given to religious work in that city.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

pay the price or let the work out by contract. The foregoing figures are based on an advance of 25c per day to all the men excepting those receiving $2.50 per day, for I am not willing to accept the assurance offered by one of the speakers at the hearing that granting the petition would affect only a limited number, or those now receiving $1.75 per day. One speaker stated that while the cost of living had increased the wages of the men remained the same, but it is only fair to the city to recall that the hours of a day's work have been reduced from nine to eight. While this did not give the men more money it increased the cost to the city more than $8000 per year. Another speaker suggested that the men are paid more than they will work better and earn the difference. If this theory is correct it certainly ought to be demonstrated. In any event I believe that any employer ought to pay what ever labor is worth, but legislating a minimum rate cannot decide the true value of a man's labor. It simply creates an arbitrary point unjust to the men, whom it cannot include.

From the standpoint of justice to all citizens, which must include the laborers who are not employed by the city as well as those who are, what is our duty in reference to this question? I do not think that we have any moral right to discriminate by legislation or otherwise in favor of city employees at the expense of laboring men who are not city employees, but nevertheless citizens of Newton, and just as much entitled to our consideration. While we are discussing the interests of 170 men we should not forget the larger number, probably ten times larger; men who, so it seems to me, are equally worthy of sympathy, equally entitled to an eight hour day, and the same pay for doing the same amount of work of a similar character. But we cannot deal with these men. Then why do I mention them? Because it suggests the real breadth of the question; something beyond us to deal with in a legislative way, but by its very nature belonging to administrative direction.

The city ordinances provide that the wages of these men shall be fixed by the city official who engages them, when not otherwise ordered by the board and to me this appears to mean that if we have confidence in our city officials who must necessarily select these men, to deal with them fairly, with wisdom and judgment as to their value to the city, the conclusion is that we ought not to interfere, but on the other hand, should we pass an order or even a resolution endorsing the sentiment of this petition, I think it is substantially saying to the executive department, which we feel that you have not handed this question of wages right, and we either order or express a wish to have it different.

The city has a chief executive and several commissioners as heads of departments, all presumed to be capable to handle this matter justly and wisely. Have we any good reason for taking it out of their hands? Personally I do not feel competent to advise them on this subject. From time to time we receive communications from city officials requesting appropriations of money for various city requirements, and it seems to me that when the time comes we are asked to appropriate a certain sum because of the necessity for making an advance in wages, then and not until then would be the most appropriate time for legislation.

Last fall when the budget was discussed the question of wages for city laborers was not mentioned so far as I remember and all estimates for cost of work to be done this year were based on the wages then being paid. This includes the grade crossing work, the street watering, which we have just taken on, and all other work, but if conditions have changed in reference to cost of labor, we will have to meet the changed conditions, and if it is now necessary for the departments to pay more for labor they will pay more for labor, and it will rest with us to say whether more money shall be appropriated or less work done than planned.

The first impulse of most men, after hearing this petition is to decide in favor of it. It is one of kindly sentiment, forgetful for the moment of the broader view that we owe as much of sentiment and sympathy to the many wage earners who are dealing with the same problems in life as are these men who are employed by the city. The field should be open to all citizens to seek employment of the city as it should be elsewhere, with no greater obligation than to do their duty as they know it; free to leave without prejudice to better their condition whenever the opportunity offers. There should be no feeling of restraint upon them.

I sympathize with them in their endeavor to improve their condition, as I do with other laboring men in like circumstances, but no more. I cannot feel that they are entitled to any special legislation, and have sufficient confidence in the executive department to handle the question intelligently and with justice to all citizens, and am therefore opposed to passing any measure which by direction or inference might prejudice the case from a business and executive standpoint.

Alderman Lyons: When the petition for adoption of a minimum wage of two dollars per day was first presented to the finance committee for action a lengthy discussion followed and the committee finally decided to grant the petition. It seemed to be the opinion of a majority of that committee that it was inexpedient to adopt a minimum rate of two dollars per day for city laborers and that the wages the laborers were receiving were fair and adequate. I disagree with the gentlemen of the committee. Moreover I know that the class of laborers in this city average better than most cities in this State and I base my knowledge on past experience. The Street Commissioner admits that he has just as good a class of men as laborers in this city as any other city in this State. The Highway Commissioner gives added weight to his opinion. The city of Newton accomplishes more work with its laborers than any other city that I know of, and pays less wages than any other city of similar comparison. Let us see where the laborers of Newton have proved their ability or efficiency. When Washington Street was sub-graded and macadamized the entire work was completed with city laborers with a saving of several thousands of dollars to the city. Sections three and four of Commonwealth Avenue were completed with city laborers, with a substantial saving to the city. Then the State highway between Newton and Needham was also completed by the city laborers at less cost than the contractors' bids, and I find in the Street Commissioner's report for 1905 that the Hammond Brook Channel was completed by city laborers with a saving to the city of over thirteen hundred dollars less than the lowest contractor's bid. This has a tendency to show you, gentlemen, that our laborers in Newton must be composed of able bodied men. I find that 20 cities pay a minimum rate of two dollars per day for eight hours. Two of these cities are going to pay $2.25 per day May 1st, two other cities have been paying $2.25 per day for some years past. The city of Worcester pays a minimum rate of $1.85 per day but I am informed that a majority of its laborers receive two dollars. Three cities pay $1.80 per day. I am informed that Waltham allows this class of laborers to use long handled shovels, while the other class of laborers receive two dollars and two dollars and twenty-five cents per day. The other two cities are no comparison to Newton. The city that pays the least amount for wages is the city of North Adams, which pays $1.50 to its laborers and employs about fourteen men in the winter months. With this single exception the city of Newton pays its laborers less than any other city in this State of any importance. In addition to a higher rate of wages paid to its laborers in all the other cities of any importance, several of these cities also grant a Saturday half holiday from two months to every Saturday in the year. The laborers of Newton received a half holiday during Mayor Wilson's term of office but it has since been discontinued. If the laborers should receive a Saturday half holiday during June, July and August, it would cost the city over three thousand dollars at their present rate of wages and less than one half of the amount caused by the adoption of the $2 rate. Our laborers are not so anxious about Saturday half holidays as they are about wages. I cannot understand how they manage to exist under present conditions and the high cost of living today compared with fifteen years ago when they were receiving the same rate of wages. It seems to me that a fair average of working days for these laborers each year would be two hundred and twenty-five days, therefore their yearly income would allow them a little over seven dollars per week or a dollar a day with which to pay rent, procure the necessities of life and educate their children. If they should receive an increase of twenty-five cents per day over the present rate, they would receive annually about eight dollars per week and that is what the adoption of a minimum rate of two dollars per day means to the laborer.Why is it that the representatives of this wealthy city of Newton should hesitate in paying two dollars per day to its laborers. Is it because the officials think it is an honor for any man to receive employment here, or that it would bankrupt the city if this petition was granted?

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

We would not be establishing a precedent for other cities to follow and to my way of thinking it is not unsound business policy for I think that the boards of other cities gave this matter some consideration before adopting the two dollar rate. Newton pays its heads of departments grand salaries, it pays its foremen on its different branches of work a higher rate of wages than most cities, and it pays its teamsters a fair rate of wages, but the laborers seem to be the place to curtail and make up the difference paid to high salaried officials. The laborers in this city realize that they must be rated as inferior laborers, and that the statement made by a contractor that he could hire better men than the city laborers for $1.50 per day must account for the wages that they are receiving at present.It may be stated that we have a few old men who possibly may not be worth as much today as they were ten or fifteen years ago, but remember that these few old men spent the best part of their lives in the faithful performance of their labor to this city, and no fair minded tax payer would object to increase the wages of these few men. I believe that in the different classes of work that the city is obliged to do, these few men could be employed where they could render service that would warrant the receiving the same wages as the strong, robust, able bodied foreigner who toils in the trenches. The increase in our tax rate if any would be slight. And this could be readily offset if our Assessors could spend a little more time in looking up the personal property tax in this city. Then a reduction in our present rate could be determined instead of an increase. I think that an ordinance can be drawn which will work out substantially what the petitioners want, although not going to the limit which the petition might seem to indicate.I therefore recommend that an order be passed which will fix the minimum rate of wages for all city laborers or other city employees who are in the permanent service of the city at not less than two dollars per day for each day's work, and that as at present, in accordance with the city ordinances, the board or officers making appointments, subject to the approval of the mayor shall fix the compensation of all other persons.Alderman Condrin: This Board would act very unwise and do a great injustice to these petitioners if we adopt the recommendation of the Finance Committee and give leave to withdraw. Notwithstanding the statement of the acting chairman of the Finance Committee, that they have looked on all sides of this matter, from every point of view, I think they have looked upon it somewhat as an attempt of organized labor to force this city to grant this two dollars per day. They consider, that there is something behind this and that behind the men is some labor organization.
Some people think that capital must be protected, no matter what injustice is done to the working man. They feel that it is not good policy to allow the working man to become too independent lest perchance he refuse to labor. They think that labor ought to be made to feel its degradation. These men do not come before this Board as a labor organization, they come here as citizens, exercising theright accorded every free man, the right to petition. There are many of them old and trusted employees of the city, they are faithful employees, and this measure ought to be given our best consideration.
We ought not to dismiss it as we would a junk license by giving them leave to withdraw. This statement of the Committee that it is unsound business policy to fix by legislation a minimum rate of wages for city laborers does not hold good. Although we have not established a minimum rate of wages by legislation we have at least done so by practice, as it must be conceded that the minimum rate of wages during the last twenty years has been $1.75. We fix a minimum rate of wages for police officers, for firemen and we legislate especially for the clerks and employees here at city hall.We also regulate the hours of labor by the eight hour law. We regulate by legislation the hours which city hall shall be open, and we also make special regulation in regard to clerks and heads of departments; we give them two weeks vacation without loss of pay; we also make provision for them in case of sickness by special legislation. But when you come to a large body of men, the working men, 170 or more, it is not good business policy. The Committee says it is unsound business policy to fix by legislation the minimum rate of wages for city employees. That sounds well for no member of this Board would commit the city to any unsound business policy, but I think it is sound business policy to raise the wages of the city employees, for if we do not do it we will have on our hands a class of dissatisfied employees. Leave to withdraw will not be the end of the question, for they are thoroughly dissatisfied and they are disgusted with the action of the finance committee. It seems to be sound business policy for this city to spend thousands of dollars for charity. It would be sound business policy to prevent pauperism rather than try to relieve pauperism after we have created it. During the winter when these men are in idleness it is all very well while a man has his health but let sickness or death invade the home and they have to depend upon charity. Their existence is from hand to mouth, when hard times come nobody can trust them, they cannot pay their bills, and they have to appeal to the City. We have in our city numerous charitable organizations and philanthropic societies and in the aggregate thousands of dollars are spent each year on charity, to relieve the sufferings of the poor, because the city and others pay starvation wages. If these men received a wage on which they can exist and support their families they would not need all this charity.That is why the city and others pay $1.75 because charity comes in and helps them out. I think it would be sound business policy to spend a little money and try to improve the condition of our laborers. A contractor may pay his laborers $1.75 and the city pays $2.00, but the city has decided advantages over the contractor because the city can have its pick of the laborers, no man will work for $1.75 when he can get $2.00, therefore the better men will seek employment from the City, even at the same rate of wages men will prefer to work for the city. Again the city has advantage over the contractor inasmuch as it will receive something back in the way of taxation. Each man is assessed a poll tax and many will pay a property tax, or if they rent property they really pay the taxes, they pay the water tax and pay the rent which allows the landlord to pay his taxes and have a per centage on his investment. It is a fundamental principle that if we increase the purchasing power of our working men the whole community is benefited, and about all the money we give to these laborers is spent right here in the city. It all goes to help the working man, it also goes to help the business men in the City, and it seems to me that anything that will improve the condition of the working men is sound business policy.We all know that a man cannot live and support his family on $1.75 a day, working 225 days in the year. He has to pay $120 a year for rent alone. You may say they appear healthy and strong. Yes, they are healthy and strong, but it is on account of the inheritance they have brought with them to this country. When hard times come and during the winter months the wife has to go out to work washing, scrubbing and comes home and works till twelve o'clock at night sewing, for the children must be clothed. I sent to school, and the wife has to work and slave. But they cannot do it now, the women of this country are not so strong, their children cannot do as their mothers and the result is they have to depend upon charity. In former days they did not depend upon charity, but the wife and the mother was a slave. I would not care to see women work around Newton the way I have seen them to work, but even if the woman of today worked as she did in those days she could not have a home on account of the increased cost of building. Very few poor people are building houses today. The City thinks it is sound business policy to spend two hundred and fifty thousand or three hundred thousand dollars for a technical training high school.
What a mockery to tell this to these people who know full well it is not for their children. When they come to the age of entering a high school they have to go to work in the factories. They accuse the laborers $2.00 a day it would enable them to send perhaps one of the children to High School, something would be done to help these people, and I think it is the duty of this Board to do something to elevate their condition.
All they ask is justice, that the City of Newton pay the standard rate of wages, a not unreasonable demand.Alderman Doherty: I feel that I am perhaps more competent than a majority of the members of the Board to discuss this matter for the reason that I am familiar with the conditions of these men. I was reared and educated on the laborer's pay and I know why they seek this increase. Their yearly pay is less than $450, deduct the cost of rent and living expenses, with the increased cost today, add the expense of clothing the children and what have you left. Nothing.
How can these men save a dollar for a rainy day, save a dollar for the purpose of building or buying a home, how can they save a dollar for educating the children.
As to the price the contractors pay, it is none of our business what the contractor pays his men. Because the contractor can get men for $1.75 has nothing to do with this case, with the keen competition there is today they are obliged to figure the pay down to the very lowest.Charity ought not to enter into it.
They are not asking for charity. They are asking for something they are entitled to from the fact that they have earned it. These men come to this city with the intention of living here all their lives and if they get the opportunity or do not meet with reverses they purchase or build a home. There is no question but that the city of Newton is one of the wealthiest cities in the State and with a tax rate of eighteen dollars as it has been in the past something is wrong.
I do not make any specific charges against the Assessors, but the fact remains that we have got property here in Newton that if it was properly assessed the additional revenue from that source would more than offset the increase that these men ask for.Alderman Bowen: It has been stated by quite a number of the members of the Board that they do not object to giving able bodied men two dollars a day, but if they do not get it what are we going to do, if we are in favor of giving it to them they ought to get it.
The minority report was refused substitution by a vote of 7 to 11. Aldermen Bowen, Clarke, Condrin, Doherty, Lyons, Underwood and White voting aye, Aldermen Bacon, Bosson, Burr, Cabot, Converse, Hall, Holmes, Jones, Palmer, Weston and President Carter voting nay.
The majority report was then accepted, the aldermen voting exactly the reverse of the above.Discussion of the subject was renewed when Alderman Bowen introduced a resolution declaring it the sense of the board that Section 12 of the Ordinances should be so constructed by the Mayor and heads of departments employing unskilled labor, so as to allow the payment of $2 per day for first class, able bodied laborers.Alderman Doherty: I am satisfied that our men have left here tonight in a dissatisfied state of mind, as a result I am afraid that the city work will suffer. These men are determined not to let this matter rest here, they will go further. I am not authorized to state what action they are to take, I will not say that I am in sympathy with any move they may have in mind, but the fact remains that these men intend to follow this matter through.Alderman Bosson: I do not think it is wise, good judgment, or sound business to undertake to tell how certain people are to interpret the Ordinances.
They know what the Ordinance means, now I do not want to be misunderstood and I do not want the majority of the Finance Committee to be misunderstood.
I have not heard it expressed that the working men ought not to get two dollars a day. We feel that we ought not to deal with that phase of the question, that it is already in the hands of competent men, the Ordinance provides it so unless some great contingency comes up.
Alderman Condrin: The Street Commissioner is already giving two dollars to what he considers first class able bodied men and it will leave the matter just the same as it is now. I cannot see any thing gained by passing such a resolution.Alderman Bowen: I do not think there is anyone in this Board but would like to see the best men get two dollars a day and I believe we should act on it tonight.Alderman Lyons: I do not think that this matter should come to the Street Commissioner at all. You are placing too much responsibility entirely on the street commissioner to grant the laborers this increase, I believe he would have granted it long before.Alderman Hall: I am going to vote against that order, because either intentionally or unintentionally the position of the majority of the Finance Committee has been misinterpreted. I do not allow any man in this Board to tell me what is fair treatment, what is proper sympathy, what is the proper measure of charity which should be meted out to certain men I do not allow any man in the Board to tell me what my course of action will be. I don't believe we have a right to say that the City of Newton shall not pay less than two dollars. I want to see the old men kept in the city's employ just as long as they are able to earn a dollar a day if there are places for them and I do not want to be any part to making a law that says we shall not pay a man less than two dollars a day and thereby barring out the man who can only earn a dollar, and that is what it would mean. It is not good law, it is not sound practice, it is not good business and we ought not to when we are acting for the public. We are trying to accomplish practically the same thing in another way, and while we do not actually make the law, we pass an order which in substance has almost the same effect as it would if we passed either of the other orders. That is why I am going to vote against it, not because I do not want to see the city laborers and every citizen of Newton get all the money they can earn but because I do not believe in directly or indirectly to fix by act of this Board a rate below which we cannot go.Alderman Condrin: I cannot agree that it is unsound business policy to fix a minimum rate of wages when it is not considered unsound business policy to fix a minimum number of hours they shall work.Alderman Converse: It is not a question of seven hundred or seven thousand dollars. It seems to me it is a question of what is proper legislation, it does not seem to me we ought to mix up with heads of departments in what they have to do. I feel as many of the aldermen this whole Board is liberally inclined and I think it is a matter that should beleft entirely with the executive department.Alderman Cabot: I am in sympathy with the laboring classes of the city and would like to see them getting more money but as far as establishing a minimum price for work I do not believe it is right for this Board to vote for it. I believe it should be left with the option of the Mayor and Street Commissioner to establish a price which they should have.Alderman Bosson: As to what price we would like to see the laborers of the City get we are all agreed. We are going to divide on this resolution now all of us who vote no are going to be misunderstood. I believe it is a question of economics and administration, it is a question with which we have not to do.
men must feel that two dollars a day is a low rate of wages to pay the men and do not think it is proper to put any of the opposing members in the position of being against paying the working men what they are worth, I do not think there is any ground for such action. I think Alderman Jones: I do not consider myself as being in any way opposed to the payment of a proper wage to the men working for the city. I want them to get a proper wage and a good wage, but I do not believe it is wise for this Board to legislate a minimum wage, and as to the resolution now before the Board I think there is no reason why we should instruct as to how they should construe the Ordinances, to advise them as to what they ought to pay, as there is no more reason than that we should advise contractors as to what they should pay.Alderman Palmer: I want to state that when it comes to the time for the Mayor or Street Commissioner through the Mayor to ask for an appropriation to pay the city laborers the required two dollars per day I shall be very glad to vote for it. I believe in leaving to the Executive Department their own work to do according to their own judgment.Alderman Holmes: I shall vote against the resolution and by signing a majority report of the Finance Committee I did not understand that I was opposed to the city paying two dollars, two and a half or three dollars a day, if it was thought wise and best by the executive department or street department.
I am opposed to establishing a minimum and I am equally opposed to establishing a maximum rate by legislation.The resolution was then withdrawn.
On motion of Alderman White an order was adopted rescinding the order requiring the muzzling of dogs.

Woman's World

Conducted by Miss GRACE M. HURT.

The club women are reminded of the Spring meeting of the State Federation to be held at Concord, Mass., on April 11. Luncheon tickets should be ordered on or before April 9, of Mrs. Philip E. Harvey, Concord, sending money, and addressed, stamped envelope for the return as usual. Train leaves Waltham at 9.21.

The last meeting of the Pierian Club was held March 27, with Mrs. Fisher. Papers for the afternoon were as follows: Navigation, Mrs. Halliday. Life Saving Service, Mrs. Willard. Ocean Telegraphy, Mrs. Thompson. Superstitions of the Fishermen, Mrs. Scoville. Soprano Solo, Mrs. Cooper.

It is hoped that all who can will respond to the call for contributions for the Rummage Sale that the Newton Ladies Home Circle are to have in charge April 16, 17 and 18, in the vacant store on Washington street opposite the old Unitarian church. Express will collect contributions, April 12, 13 and 15. A tea and social will follow the business meeting.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild spent a delightful afternoon on Tuesday, April 2nd, when the annual musical was given. The artists were Mrs. Washburn, soprano, Miss Van Wagenen, mezzo-soprano, Mr. Walker, tenor, and Mr. Andrews, pianist. Their voices were of unusual beauty and the members were enthusiastic in their appreciation of the whole program. The affair was in charge of the music committee. Mrs. D. E. Baker, chairman. Tea was served at the close by this and the social committee. The next meeting will occur on April 16 which will be the annual meeting for election of officers and will close the season's work.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning routine business was transacted and the monthly reports received. On April 10 Mrs. H. M. Powers will give a paper upon "The True Functions and Policy of Art Museums."

The Ladies' Home Circle will meet on Wednesday, April 10, at the Pomroy Home.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands journeyed to Ceylon at their meeting April first. Two papers were given, one on the island itself and one on its buried cities. The report of the committee on work for next year submitted its report. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Durgin of Hyde street.

General Federation Notes

Sometimes a great longing overwhelms the officer, having always on her heart the interests of an organization, to come into closer touch with the many. The Federation is now so large that a letter to each member would be an impossibility, as would also return replies. But a postal card is within the possibilities of every reader of the Bulletin and the other club organs. During the month of April the President makes the plea that she may have a postal card from every member who shall read this page. Just a word, if nothing more than the name of the sender, to take the place of a handshake, and to give joy to the heart and courage for greater endeavor.

Remember the address, 1550 Sherman Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

Easter Sunday

Easter services last Sunday marked the completion of the pastorate of two clergymen in this city. Rev. Clifford G. Twombly conducted his last service as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Newton Highlands, after having served as rector of that society 10 years and built up the parish in an admirable manner. In the Newton Upper Falls Methodist church Rev. O. W. Scott preached for the last time after a pastorate of 3 1-2 years.

Rev. Mr. Twombly will become rector of an Episcopal church in Lancaster, Penn., while Rev. Mr. Scott will retire from active work and will remove to Filthburg.

The Easter services were of much interest. In most of the edifices augmented choirs and attractive floral decorations were features. In Grace Episcopal church both the morning and evening services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Henry S. Nash of Cambridge in the absence of a permanent rector. Here Dudley W. Fitch completed his services as organist. The choir was in charge of Charles N. Sladen, and Miss Nellie W. Swan was pianist. In the Newton Methodist church John Smallman, Jr., was organist, Miss Gladys Barber, pianist, and there were vocal solos by Mrs. George W. Barber and William C. Walsh. In Channing Unitarian church the quartet was assisted by Miss Helen Reynolds violinist and Miss Katherine B. Halliday cellist. Henry T. Wade was organist. The cantata, "The Hymn of Praise," was given at the vesper service in Eliot Congregational church. In the morning service the choir was assisted by Miss Harriet Shaw harpist and F. William Kraft violinist. A quartet was assisted by Saul Brant violinist in Immanuel Baptist church. In the evening service there was a male quartet of 30 voices.

There was a concert by the Sunday school, carol singing and an address by Rev. Henry E. Oxnard at the 6.30 service at the North Evangelical church. Nonantum. A concert was given in the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, at 12.15 by the Sunday school. In the First Universalist church the choir was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Haynes soprano, Mrs. A. W. Field, alto, H. C. Doane bass and C. B. Tupper violinist.

Soloists assisted in the musical features of the morning service in the First Unitarian church, West Newton, one of the features being the chorus from "The Creation." In the Lincoln Park Baptist church there was a concert by the Sunday school at 7.30.

Miss Julia Pickard violinist assisted the choir in the Abundant Congregational church. Here the morning service was conducted by Rev. William H. Ryder of the Andover theological seminary. In the Church of the Messiah, Abundant, there was a vested choir of 30 voices. The soloists were Masters Bonney and Lundline, Miss Edith Peakes soprano, Miss Rosa Allen alto, Frederick Randall tenor, Henry E. Mozellous baritone, Mrs. Mabel T. Quimby violinist.

Concerts were given by the Sunday schools in the First Congregational, First Baptist, Unitarian and Methodist churches at Newton Centre. In the morning service in the Newton Centre Unitarian church Harry A. Cook tenor, Miss Marion Hay contralto and Arthur M. Curry violinist assisted. In the First Baptist church the soloists were Miss Evelyn Blair soprano, Mrs. Laura P. Ridley alto, H. E. Berry tenor, A. F. Denighaven bass. There was a choir of 35. In the Newton Centre Methodist church there was a vested choir of men and boys, assisted by Miss Bessie T. Salmon soprano soloist. Here at 4 P. M. there was carol singing, recitations and addresses.

Mrs. J. J. Bennett soprano, Miss Edna Cones alto, Harry Moore tenor and Carl Hutchins bass were the soloists in the Newton Highlands Congregational church in the morning service. In this church as well as the Newton Highlands Methodist church there were concerts by the Sunday school in the evening.

With the assistance of Charles E. Johnson soloist, the cantata, "Christ is Risen," was sung in the Newton Upper Falls Methodist church. In this edifice as well as that of the Newton Upper Falls Baptist society there were concerts in the evening.

In the Newton Lower Falls Methodist church, as well as St. Mary's Episcopal church in that village, there were elaborate music programs, followed by Sunday school concerts in the evening. In the Waban and Chestnut Hills churches special services of unusual interest were conducted.

In the Church of Our Lady, Newton; St. Bernard's church, West Newton; Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre, and St. Mary's church, Newton Upper Falls, the decorations were particularly handsome. The altars were illuminated by many brilliant candles, banked by many Easter lilies. The largest congregations were those attending the late morning masses. Vesper services in these churches in the evening also attracted many, when the usual musical programs were augmented by soloists.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Abenarie Golf Club was held last Friday evening at its clubhouse in Newtonville, and the following officers elected for the coming season:

Treasurer, E. J. Cox.

Directors, Olof Ohlson, H. H. Cook, C. C. Briggs, F. L. Fessenden, C. B. Somers, F. T. Benner, F. L. Peirce, Dr. H. A. Roark.

On Tuesday evening the directors met at the residence of President Avery and the following were chosen chairmen of committees:

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre.—The patrons of Keith's Theatre are having the opportunity of hearing Vesta Victoria sing her own songs in her own way and to say that both the singer and the songs have made hits is putting it mildly, for they have made a positive sensation. The clever little English comedienne made her first appearance last Monday afternoon preceded by the reputation of being the vaudeville feature of the season. She made good, and more, for she is the talk of all who have seen her and is to be retained for a second week at the largest salary ever paid a single entertainer in the history of vaudeville. She will have several new songs in her repertoire. In the surrounding show will be Fred Lennox, the popular comedian of "Prince Pro Tem" fame in the George Ade sketch, "On His Uppers," Mary Norman, the clever society entertainer in her delightful "Types of American Girls"; Harry Tighe's Collegians, one of the jolliest offerings of the season; the Three Diamonds, Italian street minstrels, with their charming vocal and instrumental selections the great comedy bar act of the Wilton Brothers; Kelly and O'Brien, in a humorous skit; Bert Bertha Grant, in lively "real conisms"; the Valveno Brothers, in gymnastic stunts; Seymour's educated canines; Will La Belle, juggling comedian; Lillian Ashley, with songs and imitations; Luman, a great contortionist, and the Kinetograph.

Park Theatre.—Robert Edeson, Boston's favorite dramatic son, returns to the Park Theatre for a limited engagement of two weeks, beginning April 8th, with the regular matinees and a special matinee Patriots' Day. The Park Theatre in Boston was the birthplace of "Strongheart" and sent this celebrated drama on the way of its three years undiminished success, with the stamp of Boston's unqualified approval. As the college-bred Indian, whose nobility of character made him beloved by his associates, Robert Edeson has furnished a new characterization in the American drama that stands out like a bar-relief among the original and unique creations of the decade. As Boston and vicinity knows "Strongheart" thoroughly a detailed description of the play is now unnecessary—suffice it to say that it has of do with college life, the scenes being laid in Columbia University, New York City, and there are four acts, one of which is entirely taken up with a representation of a Thanksgiving Day football game. Henry B. Harris has retained for Mr. Edeson's support the same capable company seen here last season, with one or two exceptions. Local interest is still further aroused by the fact that "Strongheart" will close its season at its birthplace, Boston, as next year Mr. Edeson has arranged to appear in a brand new American production.

Ice Cream and Cake

In the round of social events light refreshments play an important part. Now ice cream and cake sometimes get just a bit monotonous. That is unless rare good judgment has been exercised in the selection of the cake and cream. Cake can make or mar the refreshment hour. Hence it is important to get none but the best.

Death of Mrs. Blanche E. Cabot

The sympathy of a large circle of friends is with Mr. Harry D. Cabot of Newtonville in the sudden death of his wife, Tuesday April 9, after giving birth to a son who survives her. Mrs. Cabot was Blanche Etchel Roberts of Malden, a graduate of Tufts College in 1902, and was 28 years of age. She was married to Mr. Cabot in November 1903 and after a year in Malden they came to Newtonville to make their home. Mrs. Cabot was a lovely, accomplished girl, of genial, sunny temper and of a fine, noble spirit. She was very popular in college, an active worker in her College Society, Alpha Kappa Gamma, and identified with the various other social and musical organizations of the College, and during her short residence in Newtonville had made a host of warm friends. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her late residence 361 Watertown street, Rev. J. F. Albion of Portland, Mrs. Cabot's former pastor, officiating. The interment will be at the Newton Cemetery.

Explosion

An explosion in one of the smaller buildings of the Masten & Wells fireworks factory on Needham street, Newton Upper Falls, last Tuesday night, wrecked the interior of the room. Most of the employees had stopped work for the day and no one was injured. An alarm was turned in from box 623, and the quick work of the firemen kept the blaze from spreading.

The English Tea Room

We are coming to it—the English custom of drinking afternoon tea; and, really, isn't it a delight? Have you visited our lovely English Tea Room at 180B Tremont street, Boston, on a cold and blustering afternoon? If you have, you have found real contentment, it is such a charming place. Flowers bud in long-throated vases, white-capped maids trip about with dainty serving trays holding sprigged china and little Japanese teapots, and one may choose delicious sandwiches or buttered and toasted tea-cakes spread with marmalade. It is such bliss to wind one's weary way into this pleasant place, to run away from the maddening crowd, to drink the cup that cheers.

Beautiful as the English Tea Room is, the new Delft Lunch and Tea Room, which is conveniently located at 429 Boylston street, Boston, and is under the same management, is equally attractive in every way. Dutchland is always fascinating, and the old Delft blue is a color that entrances and calls forth numerous descriptive adjectives. The Delft Room is artistic and realistic in every particular. The Dutch frieze, the old Delft china in dainty Chinese cabinets, the waitresses with their modified Dutch caps, quaint kerchiefs and blue gowns, the little lunch tables arranged to make numerous cozy corners, the cool green that spreads from the pretty fern dishes, all make for real lunch contentment. Add to these things well-cooked, daintily-served dishes, and nothing more is needed, when the cost also is made to fit every woman's purse who is searching for the comforts of a big hotel and its unselfish service without its publicity. Boston needed just such lovely lunch rooms. The inventors and planners of them deserve a hearty vote of thanks for giving them to us.

Mr. Stewart's Opinion

"You ask me if I consider the Park Square station as necessary for the Boston & Albany," said Mr. Joseph B. Stewart, who has resigned as general superintendent of the Boston & Albany to become president of a manufacturing company. "My reply is that in my opinion the Park Square station is not necessary. I have a plan by which the Boston & Albany can continue to use the South station. The changes that would be necessary, if my plan was carried out, would cost less than one-quarter of the estimate for refitting the Park Square station. It is figured that $7,000,000 would be necessary to place the old Park Square station in proper condition to be used as a terminal. You can figure for yourself what one-quarter of that would be. Should my plan be carried out it would provide at the South station all the requirements necessary for a great number of years."

"Would you utilize the subway at the South station?" asked the reporter. "My plan provides for a relocation of the tracks and certain changes in conditions. For private reasons I must refuse to give the details of the plan at the present time."

"Do you think that electricity will be used as the motive power in place of steam by the big railroads?" was asked. "If you mean for the passenger service, I should say yes; it is bound to come in time," said Mr. Stewart. "I think this will be especially true of the suburban service. Something has got to be done along this line. If the experiments that are now going on at New York are successful electricity will be quite generally introduced."

Mr. Stewart's resignation will not take effect until June 1, but he is now on a leave of absence and will not again go back to active service as general superintendent. The duties of that office are being attended to by Assistant General Superintendent W. J. Frapp, who will probably succeed Mr. Stewart. Mr. Stewart is to leave railroad work and become president and general manager of a new company formed in Boston to treat copper according to a new process.

Policemen Mulcted

In the United States Court at Boston last Friday, a jury gave a verdict of $2216.75 in favor of Mrs. Florence B. McGuirk in her civil suit for damages for false imprisonment against Sergeant B. F. Burke and Patrolmen E. P. O'Halloran and Edward Desmond of the Newton police force. Patrolman John McNeil was also a defendant but a verdict in his favor was ordered by the judge. This case had been on trial for some days and had created quite an interest in this city where all the parties are well known. The suit was the result of the arrest of Mrs. McGuirk last year and her conviction for keeping a disorderly house. A fine imposed at that time by Judge Kennedy was paid. The civil suit was based on two charges, false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. City Solicitor Slocum demurred to the latter and he was sustained by the court. It seemed that Mrs. McGuirk was arrested on the street with a warrant made out in the name of Florence McGuirk, taken to headquarters over night and when the facts as to the right name appeared in the court next day, the warrant was quashed, and a new warrant in her right name issued and the trial proceeded. The first warrant was the bone of contention for the civil suit which has just been decided in Mrs. McGuirk's favor. The testimony in this case as to the cause for arrest was of such a character that the witnesses gave their testimony in whispers, and the verdict was a great surprise to everyone who had knowledge of the circumstances. Mr. Slocum has filed a motion for a new trial and also intends, if that is denied to carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

Debt Raised

There was a large audience at Central church last Sunday morning in response to an appeal of the pastor to endeavor to raise an amount large enough to pay off the debt on the church. Rev. Mr. Stocking made a statement and then wrote on the blackboard the pledges as they were received. The sum of $25,000 was soon in sight and a reasonable assurance of $2,000 more. It is desired to raise the $30,000 necessary to pay debt and interest before May 1st to be in the form of pledges to be paid at stated intervals during the next five years. There was much enthusiasm and there is no doubt but what the remainder of the sum desired will be pledged before the first of May.

John Quincy Adams

Mr. John Quincy Adams died at the residence of his son-in-law in Wayland last Friday in the 64th year of his age. He was a man of well known literary talents and was for nearly thirty years chief clerk of the state treasurer's office. One son, Donald A. Adams of the United States navy, and three daughters, Mrs. Henry W. Patterson and Mrs. Charles A. Hardy of Wayland and Mrs. Frederick T. Hyde of Weston, survive him. A prayer service was held from the house Monday morning at 9:30 and the remains were taken to North Brookfield for burial.

Mr. Stickney Dead

Mr. John M. Stickney, for many years a resident of Newtonville died at the Newton Hospital early Wednesday morning. Mr. Stickney has been in poor health for the past few years, but has not been seriously ill until the past ten days.

John Morton Stickney was born in Calais, Me., Jan. 29, 1843, and is a son of Robert C. and Susan E. (Dutch) Stickney.

Mr. Stickney was educated in the common schools and academy and engaged at once in the dry goods business. For many years he was the senior member of the firm of Stickney & Smith, ladies' cloaks, furs and garments, of Boston retiring from active business about a year ago.

Mr. Stickney was a Republican and took an active though quiet part in political affairs. He served his ward with ability and distinction in 1899, 1900 and 1901, and refused a renomination.

Mr. Stickney was a constant attendant at the Central Congregational church of Newtonville, and had served upon its parish committee as chairman.

He is survived by a widow who was Miss Elizabeth C. Parker of Pittsfield, Mass.

Funeral services will be held from the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

modern English life, rich in comedy element, and not without that touch of pathos that makes the whole world kin, and its plot has been widely discussed, arousing both the approval and the antagonism of many distinguished critics. At the Castle Square Miss Thais Lawton will be seen as Mrs. Tanqueray, Howell Hansel as Mr. Tanqueray, with Elfreda Lasche, Ethel Browning, Ben Johnson and John Waldron in the other important roles. The scenery will, as is usual at the Castle Square, be of great beauty and artistic effect.

High School Notes

The alumni players of the high school defeated the regular high school team as thus far organized, 10 to 6 last Saturday afternoon.
The contest, which was played on the Cabot park grounds, attracted many spectators. The high school players were given their first hard contest, securing good practice for the beginning of their scheduled games next week. It was not until the sixth inning that the regular team got into its usual form. The alumni players had by that time secured such a lead that they could not be overcome.

Mrs. Blanche Ethel Cabot

Mrs. Blanche Ethel Cabot, wife of Harry D. Cabot, passed away suddenly at her home on Watertown street last Tuesday evening. She is survived by her husband and an infant son born a few hours before the mother's death. Mrs. Cabot was 28 years of age and at one time was a student at Smith College. Funeral services will be held from the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Telephone's Ridiculous Proposition

Mr. Editor: Perhaps my plan of protest to the New England Bell Tel. & Tel. Co. may commend itself to its numerous subscribers in the City of Newton. Inveigled into the use of telephone service by price and liberality of district, I feel very strongly the "relevance of which I complain in the following protest I enclosed to the Company in my remittance for service this month.

PROTEST.
I herein desire to register my decided objection to the ridiculous Reduction Proposition put forth and campaigned at great expense by your Corporation to be offered to the subscribers to your service. It means first, last, and all the time to us, larger cost by 20 per cent in dollars and cents and a greatly restricted territory, linked with the determination to maintain unnecessary interest and dividends on exorbitantly capitalized Bonds and Stock which the Legislature has ignorantly granted to you as a monopoly.

I think this is a reasonable way to make known our opinions where it ought to do the most good. At any rate let us all put in some work to prevent this what seems to me an outrageous project to oppress the subscribers in the outlying districts. I very much prefer things as they are with perhaps a 5 cent toll to Boston Main.

You Don't Have To

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular druggist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

A most unfortunate situation exists upon the question of granting the city laborers, $2 per day. While almost every alderman and city official who employs unskilled labor, agree that $2 per day is not an unfair rate of wages neither alderman nor official desires to take the initiative. The petition asking that the city establish a minimum rate of $2 per day was very properly given leave to withdraw. There are good laborers and poor laborers, and to establish a minimum rate would be "unsound business policy." But we are strongly of the opinion that the underlying motive of the petition should have been recognized by the aldermen as well as its technical side. The aldermen are the tax levying power of the city and in a case like this they should either direct the executive department, or at least express an opinion which should enable the mayor to handle the question with full knowledge of the backing of the board of aldermen. So far as the mayor is concerned, he is bound by the appropriations which were made last fall, based upon a wage scale of $1.75 per day. He is not authorized on his own responsibility, either to increase the labor cost 10 per cent or to reduce the amount of work performed by 10 per cent, by approving a $2 rate of wages. The ordinances clearly provide that unless otherwise ordered by the aldermen, salaries and wages of subordinates and other employees shall be fixed by the heads of departments, approved by the mayor and paid from the appropriation for such department. It is clear therefore that in expressing an opinion on the matter of $2 per day, the board would not in the slightest degree infringe upon the prerogatives of the executive, and with no great emergency, existing the mayor is not called upon to make any specific recommendation to the aldermen. Indeed the cool reception given his recommendation that the water rates be reduced might well cause him to hesitate before urging action on this matter.

If there is any valid argument why the $2 rate should not be paid to first class, able bodied laborers, or any financial reasons why it is expedient to make an additional appropriation of possibly $12,000 or $15,000, there might be some reason for aldermanic dilly-dallying on the matter. But with the reasonableness of the $2 rate admitted, with many expressions from heavy tax payers that the increase is not extravagant, there seems to be no excuse for not meeting the situation fairly and squarely.

The proper course of action would be for the aldermen to indicate to the mayor, either by order or resolution that it would favorably consider any recommendation he might care to submit, either with a view of making additions to the dozen or fifteen appropriations from which labor is paid, or to a reduction in the amount of work contemplated by the annual appropriation order. With some such expression of aldermanic opinion, the mayor could then submit his own views on the matter and the issue become clearly defined.

The extraordinary verdict just rendered by a United States court in a civil suit against three police officers of this city is viewed with alarm by the friends of decency and morality, who fear that in consequence the police will be less zealous in the future in their devotion to duty. It has been a matter of congratulation that the police have always been ready and willing to sacrifice their physical comfort and devote extra hours to their work, often on their own volition. It is only recently that several officers were confined in a dark, cold room for 15 hours, without food, deprived of the privileges of talking, smoking or even sitting down, in an effort to capture suspected gamblers. In the case above cited, one officer, night after night, endured physical discomforts and disgusting surroundings to obtain evidence conclusive for conviction in the district court. It is a great pity that this commendable spirit has received a set back, for it is the public in general that will suffer in the end.

The senatorial situation next fall from a Republican standpoint is most serious. Senator Vahey will undoubtedly be a candidate again and his vote getting powers must be admitted. It is evident that the Republicans must select a candidate who can command the normal Republican majority in Newton, or they will go down again to defeat. It is equally certain that some attempt should be made to reconcile the disgruntled members of the party in the country end of the district. These limitations seem to point to the selection of a Newton man, who is not antagonistic to the upper end of the district, and if possible, one who can command some strength in Mr. Vahey's own home at Watertown. With the present bitter feeling between the two ends of the district it behooves the party leaders to be up and doing.

The re-appointment of Chairman de las Casas of the Metropolitan Park commission by Governor Guild is not a popular action in this vicinity, where Mr. de las Casas' arbitrary acts and assumption of complete authority are not relished. His Excellency has not added to his diminishing popularity by this appointment.

The public opinion bill now pending in the General Court is one of those fool measures, beautiful in theory, but pernicious in practice. When the entire Commonwealth will elect representatives as capable and as intelligent as those from the Newton district, it will not need to give them half baked instructions by ballot.

The failure of the legislature to consolidate the great metropolitan commissions we believe is most unfortunate, and we are sorry that our Newton representatives were opposed to the bill.

Boat Club

In the annual meeting of the Newton boat club held Monday evening in the clubhouse, Riverside, the following officers were elected: Robert Gorton pres. Eugene F. Pettie vice pres. Ernest Booth sec. Charles E. Hatfield treas. and Frank Booth capt. Reports for the past financial year showed the society to be in a flourishing condition. The club is planning a busy season of sports and entertainments on the Charles river and in the clubhouse.

Channing Alliance

The Channing Branch of the Women's National Alliance held their annual meeting Tuesday morning in Channing church parlor. The reports of the different committees showed a large amount of charitable and philanthropic work accomplished during the year. Luncheon was served at one o'clock by a committee in charge of Miss Katherine Howard. After dinner talks were given by Mrs. E. R. Elliot of Boston, one of the directors in the National body, Mrs. A. D. Sampson, and Rev. Mr. Hudson. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Miss Grace M. Burt; first vice president, Miss Jessie M. Fisher; recording secretary, Miss Helen Wells; corresponding secretary, Miss Myra Southworth; treasurer, Miss Harriet W. Stevens.

Newton Cemetery Corporation

The regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Cemetery Corporation was held on Monday, April 8th, 1907, it being the first meeting since the death of Mr. Edwin B. Haskell, who had served as a trustee thirty-two years and twenty-four years of that period as President.

Mr. Henry B. Day of West Newton was elected a Trustee and Mr. George Hutchinson, one of the present board, was elected President, thus filling the vacancies caused by the death of Mr. E. B. Haskell.

The following memorial was offered by Mr. Hutchinson and was passed by a unanimous vote to be spread upon the records.

On the twenty-fifth of March, Nineteen Hundred and Seven, Edwin Bradbury Haskell died at his home in Auburndale.

Such is the announcement of the passing from us of the President of this corporation, an associate who has been for many years one of our especially helpful citizens and always one of the most respected and genuinely beloved.

There will come to us naturally and rightly these reminders of the rapidly passing years, and while, as in this case, causing grief and prompting a serious consideration of the life that is, and is to be, let us with an ever abiding faith be grateful that this companionship has been possible, and that we have been privileged to possess in such intimate friendship one who so largely fulfilled our highest conceptions of manhood.

Our sympathy which is most sincere is extended to his family.

Our readers who are interested in photography will do well to spend a few moments at the demonstration of "Coke" paper to be given at 13 1/2 Bromfield street, at the down-town branch of Pinkham & Smith Company, on April 12, 13 and 15th.

The photographic department of this popular house is conducted on strictly independent lines, which insures the consumer the best of everything in the photographic line at moderate prices.

A complete stock is carried at both the Boylston and Bromfield street stores, but the demonstrations are held at 13 1/2 Bromfield street only.

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton, enjoyed a musicale, Monday, April 8, at the home of Mrs. W. F. Kimball, Newtonville; Mrs. George H. Talbot and Mrs. M. E. Merritt joining with her as hostesses. The programme was rendered by Miss Edith Noyes Porter, Mrs. Jeannette Noyes Rice, Mrs. E. Nelson Kimball and Mr. Charles Tupper, and was most delightful. Dainty refreshments were served.

Street Railway Notes

The Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company have recently placed a new car in service. It is of the semi-conversible type, and of the new grooved pattern. The Windows and sashes during the warm season are pushed way to the roof, and leaves an open car. In winter, another outside window is used on the car, giving a double window. Car is 53 ft. 6 in. long, and weighs thirty-six tons when empty. Equipment is of the latest type, having four G. E. 75 horse power motors, multiple controlled circuit, two distinct set of brakes, one operated by air, and one to be operated by hand in case of emergency. The air brake is of a special design, so that should two or more cars be operated together in train, and for any reason cars should break apart, the brakes would be set automatically on the cars, bringing them to a dead stop. The outside doors are operated by air. There is an extra step which folds up when the doors are closed. Platforms are very wide, so that two people can board the car on the same side at once. The car seats comfortably sixty passengers.

The motorman has a compartment in the front of the car enclosed, and all his switches and levers are within easy reach. The signs are specially arranged so that they may be set from the motorman's compartment to any reading desired, without leaving the car. When lighted the car presents an especially beautiful appearance, there being thirty 25 candle power lamps, fifteen on each side of the car, incased in ground glass globes with opal shades. These are wired through pipes running the length of the car, bringing the lights directly over the seats.

The car rides as smoothly as a Pullman, and demonstrates the efficiency of the modern equipment with which the Boston & Worcester management have equipped their road.

Trees, shrubs, evergreens, roses, vines, hedge-plants, hardy, herbaceous plants can be ordered of the Nursery Exchange, 155 Milk street, Boston (telephone 39 Fort Hill). Newton Medical Club

The monthly meeting of the Club was held at the Newton hospital, Monday evening, Dr. Sherman presiding. An interesting discussion took place on the question of improving the milk supply of the city and it was the opinion of those present that a more thorough inspection should be made of the milk and the milk farms, and that the city should appoint an inspector who would devote his entire time to the business.

It was the sense of the meeting that public sentiment should be aroused to the end that whatever expenditures necessary to attain these results should be sought from the city government.

CITY HALL NOTES

The contract for concrete work during the present season has been awarded the Simpson Bros. Corporation.

The annual report of the School committee which is now being distributed among those interested is a most interesting document. It contains 23 half tone cuts of many school buildings and rooms and besides the conventional statistics, has two admirable papers by Supt. Spaulding on the "Inadequacy of our Public Schools" and "The Weakness of our Public Schools." Dr. Spaulding regrets that 8 teachers left the city last year to receive more salary elsewhere and he recommends $1500 additional for teachers' salaries in order to retain the superior teachers. He speaks of the re-arrangement of the relations between the high and grammar schools, the completion or revision of the curriculum of the elementary schools, a more flexible plan of grading and promoting pupils and other interesting subjects including a recommendation of a new building in the Bigelow district and the coming need of a new building at West Newton. The report of the select commission on Technical Training is also given in full. All in all the report is a valuable addition to our public documents.

Next Monday evening Mr. John Hermann Loud will give the nineteenth of his free organ recitals at First Baptist church, Newton Centre. He will be assisted by Mr. Anthony Reese, basso, who will sing selections from Tschai-kowsky and Haydn.

At a special meeting of the aldermen on Wednesday evening, Willard S. Higgins of Newtonville and Chas. P. Darling of Auburndale were drawn as jurors for the Supreme Court at Lowell next Tuesday.

An exhibition of paintings by Robert W. Van Borselen of New York is being held daily at Gilts art gallery, 673 Boylston street, Boston, from nine to five o'clock. The paintings will be on view until Friday the 19th.

Unitarian Club

The ladies night of the Unitarian Club will be held next Thursday evening at the Channing church parlors with Mr. R. L. O'Brien, editor of the Boston Transcript as the speaker, subject: "How Washington is reported." Mr. O'Brien will be remembered as the correspondent of the Transcript for many years writing under the name of "Lincoln."

Boys' Camp

Camp Wildmere at Harrison, Me., is a real, high class, camp for boys. Located on the shore of Long lake, connecting with Songo River and Sebago Lake forming a continuous waterway of thirty miles. The camp opens its eighth season June 27th with a fine and full equipment. Mountain climbs, all water sports, tennis, baseball, launch, everything possible in such a glorious outdoor life is offered under the careful attention and management of trained and able men. Mr. Albert B. Moseley, 436 Broadway, Winter Hill, has strong recommendations from those who know about Wildmere and will gladly respond to all inquiries. Booklet on request. 3c

D. R.

Sarah Hull Chapter D. R. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Edgar W. Warren, 135 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, on Wednesday, April 10. After a business meeting presided over by Mrs. Arthur C. Hill a delightful Colonial Program was rendered by Miss Bridge, pianist; Miss Durgin, violinist; Miss Rees, contralto soloist and Mrs. Miller, who read the "Diary of An English Officer." The charming Colonial costumes, the old-fashioned flowers used in decorating, the rare old china and dainty refreshments were the replica of those of Colonial days. The hostesses were Mrs. E. P. Bosson, Mrs. C. S. Luitweiler, Mrs. G. H. Salmon, Mrs. Joseph Simpson, Mrs. H. H. Shumway and Mrs. E. W. Warren.

Pi Eta Dramatics

The Pi Eta Society of Harvard gave "The Financier," a musical comedy in two acts at Bray hall last evening before a large and fashionable audience. The bright lines and catchy music were greatly appreciated, judging from the encores and applause. Dancing followed until one o'clock.

At the last regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: "She is not dead, she only lieth sleeping On the sweet refuge of her Saviour's breast;

And far from sorrow, pain, and weeping

Shore is not dead; she only taketh rest." Whereas, The kind Heavenly Father, in His unceasing care, and judgment, has taken our beloved Sister Mrs. Emma Florence to her reward.

Therefore be it resolved, That while we bow in submission to the divine will we do not the less mourn for her, who has been called from us to her eternal home.

Resolved, That through her departure our auxiliary has lost a worthy member, a true and faithful friend, whose memory we shall always cherish.

Resolved, That while we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family, yet we share with them the hope of a reunion in the home above.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon our records, a copy sent to the family of our deceased sister; and also a copy to the local papers.

Eva C. Fogwill, Catherine Gaw, Committee.

Buried Alive

Buried alive by the bank of a trench in which he was adjusting a pipe caving in and dying a quarter of an hour after being rescued was the fate Saturday afternoon of Henry J. McGrady, aged 37 years, a florist living at 48 Summer street, Newton Centre. To see that a pipe that was being laid to his own greenhouses was properly connected with another section Mr. McGrady had gone into the ditch at a point directly back of the house of William T. Quigley off Commonwealth avenue in the rear of Summer street. Mrs. Quigley had spoken to him and gone into her own kitchen, when a few minutes later his sister, Miss Nellie McGrady, passed by the ditch and was alarmed to see that it had caved in. She summoned Mrs. Quigley and Frank Johnson, a peddler, who seized a shovel and made every effort to unearth Mr. McGrady. Before other assistants arrived they unearthed the man's hat. After about 40 minutes digging his body was taken from the ditch, eight feet from the surface. He was still alive, although respiration was hardly perceptible. Medical Examiner George L. West and several other doctors worked over the body but their efforts were unsuccessful. He died a quarter of an hour after being taken from the trench in the house of Henry Ducet.

A considerable section of the trench ran through a thick layer of heavy sand, which in places closely resembled quicksand. While the trench was being dug in the last few days small sections of this caved in several times but did no material damage. In the place where Mr. McGrady was at work the sides of the trench had been dug away at an angle in order to avoid a serious cave in. The weight of the sand that had been thrown up was too much for the banks, it is believed, and this caused a fatal accident in the very place where precautions had been taken to avoid an accident.

Mr. McGrady was a son of Henry McGrady and for a number of years he had been successfully employed in the florist business with his father. Besides greenhouses off Summer street they operated a store at 67 Union street, Newton Centre. Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Misses Nellie, Mary and Margaret McGrady. He was born in Newton Centre and had lived in this city all his life, being well-known on the south side.

Mr. J. Richard Carter gave a most interesting address on the Panama canal, Wednesday evening, illustrated with some beautiful stereopticon views. There was a small attendance on account of the weather.

Charming Musicals

Notwithstanding the inclement weather which has prevailed Miss Helen E. Partridge's Musicals Wednesday afternoon was fully attended by ladies who accorded her a generous ovation in this her debut as a vocalist in our own city. She was handsomely assisted by The Ladies Mayflower Quartet of Boston, and they being promising pupils of Madam Martini who tastefully accompanied them on the piano. Miss Partridge's singing of the old English songs by Dr. Arne, Purcell and Clay revealed her careful appreciation of their charming melodies and her artistic vocalization. Her "Winter Lullaby" by De Koven with violin obligato beautifully rendered by Miss Agnes Trowbridge and Madam Martini at the piano commended a deserved encore. Miss Trowbridge with Miss Hall at the piano also rendered two delightful selections from the masters and proved her mastery of the violin. Miss Partridge's closing selections from Benedict and Bach were of more sombre character revealing the pathetic side of her voice. It is unnecessary to add that her vocalization and careful cultivation not only surprised her large circle of acquaintances, but commanded their professed admiration. The Ladies Quartette was a revelation of

Federation Bazaar Notes

The Executive Committee of the Federation Bazaar will meet at the home of Mrs. Wilkins, 324 Walnut street, Newtonville, on Monday, April 15, at 2.30.

The Colonial Tea Committee is not behind other committees in plans for work. At a recent meeting it was decided to serve tea each afternoon, prominent club women acting as hostesses. Every detail will follow as far as possible the custom of olden times, while those assisting will dress in colonial costume.

The dramatic entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Review Club promises to be most attractive. Two short plays are being prepared, one, "Peticoat Perfidy" by ladies from the Waban Woman's Club and the other, "The Kleptomaniac," parts being taken by ladies from several clubs under the direction of Mr. Frank E. Fowle of Malden, a professional coach. Well-known musical talent has been secured and everything is being done to make this entertainment as enjoyable as any of the week's program. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Mary E. Herron, chairman, Mrs. William Fuller, Mrs. C. E. Fogg and Mrs. G. M. Fiske, Auburnville; Mrs. F. W. Stone, Mrs. C. D. Byfield, Newton; Mrs. W. C. Richardson, Newtonville; Mrs. Clinton M. Hill, Waban; Mrs. C. D. Miller, Newton Highlands; Mrs. N. A. Follett, Newton.

The "Mirror," the magazine, is now in the hands of the printer and will fully meet the expectations of the most critical reader.

Those in charge of the Bazaar are anxious to have it understood that the Bazaar is not merely a private enterprise, but a public work, and that the public will receive the most benefit from it. Then the Federation is striving to give all patrons of the Bazaar the full value of their money. It also takes pleasure in being the first organization to demonstrate the utility of the enterprise—the purchase of the Claffin estate for City purposes—and to show what a centralizing force it will be in providing for the citizens of the various villages a common meeting place.

The subject of "Child Labor" will be discussed at the meeting of the Social Science Club next Wednesday morning, April 17.

On April 8 the Monday Club of Newton Highlands enjoyed a paper by Rev. G. G. Phipps on "Coru Duti," one of the Indian writers. Besides this there was a talk on other Indian writers, particular attention being given to the novelists. At the meeting next week with Mrs. Martell Rev. F. S. Hatch will speak.

The annual meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will be held on April 16.

The Social Science Club met at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning. A paper was given by Mrs. H. H. Powers on "The True Functions and Policy of Art Museums." Mrs. Powers emphasized the fact that these museums are for all the people and not for a special class. She accounted for the late development and interest in art in this country as being largely due to the Puritan prejudice to all kind of ornament. After giving a brief historical setting to her subject, she pointed out ways in which the museum may be made to mean more to the community. The museums of Dresden and Berlin were contrasted, the mere picture gallery being distinguished from the museum which portrays the scientific development of art study. They should be educational but not pedantic; not merely to entertain but to develop understanding. Mrs. Powers suggested several ways by which the Boston Art Museum might be made more valuable: by the acquisition of more material, a better arrangement and by making a specialty of some one artist or some one period. She expressed the hope that sometime it may be supported by the public treasury just as the public library, though she foresaw certain difficulties in the way. Mrs. Powers dwelt particularly upon the difficulties in the way of securing really fine museums in this country, from the great expense of getting real treasures since Greece and Italy now forbid all exportation of their treasures, then the danger of fraud, of having copies passed off as originals and the high rates of duty imposed by government upon all works of art for private collections. She recommended the securing year by year of good pieces of modern art and advocated a gallery similar to the Luxembourg in Paris. She also pointed out ways in which these museums may play an active part in developing an interest in art, such as lectures for the general public, loan exhibits and the bringing forward of certain collections into prominence from time to time. The lecture was listened to with great interest and was followed by discussion.

The Art League met at Mrs. Turner's, Central street, Auburnville, last Tuesday afternoon and in spite of the storm a good number were present. Miss Ella B. Smith, one of the members, gave a very interesting talk upon some of the galleries she visited in her year abroad, and illustrated her remarks by many beautiful photographs of works of art in Italy, France and Spain.

Mrs. Anna L. Bailey of the Social Science Club of Newton gave a very bright and interesting Parliamentary drill in which all took part, and which proved instructive as well as amusing. Mrs. Turner exhibited some beautiful drawn work done by the women of Brownsville, Texas, which is quite equal to any from Mexico.

Miss McKenzie the president of the League made a report upon the progress of the fund which is being raised for the stained glass windows for the Chas. C.

Burr Hall, and stated that about one half the needed amount had been raised and that some of the windows would be in place in time for the graduation of this year's class.

Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church, was held at the house at one o'clock and the funeral followed at 2.30 in the Mt. Auburn chapel. Rev. Charles L. Noyes of Somerville was the officiating clergyman and selections were rendered by the Temple quartette. There was a profusion of floral tributes from the various organizations to which deceased belonged, and in the large gathering of mourners were representatives from the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Appalachian Mountain Club, American Ornithological Union, B. A. A., S. A. R., and many others.

Today has been selected by the American Humane Education Society as "Band of Mercy Day" in all the public schools of Massachusetts. Supt. Spaulding has arranged for special exercises in the Newton schools.

These village meetings at which Supt. of Schools Spaulding has an opportunity to discuss school matters with parents cannot fail to be beneficial. Long may they continue.

Carvelli-Guzzi

St. Bernard's church, West Newton, was opened for a wedding Sunday afternoon, when, in the presence of 1200 guests, Miss Theresa Guzzi became the bride of Frank Carvelli, a Boston importer. The bride is one of the best known young women of the Italian colony of this city. For several years she has acted as an interpreter in the local court, where she was regarded as one of the most expert ever employed by the court. Her services in this capacity had also been frequently sought by different city hall officials. Through this work she gained a wide acquaintance throughout the city, and won the friendship and esteem of hosts of friends.

Friends from this city, Boston and numerous other places filled St. Bernard's church, when the ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Charles J. Galligan, one of the assistant pastors. The edifice was prettily decorated with potted plants and palms. The bride, wearing a gown of white china silk trimmed with Irish point lace, was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Guzzi as maid of honor. She was given away by her father. The groom was attended by Alphonse Barletta of Boston as best man. The ushers were a number of West Newton young men, George H. Monks, Joseph P. Ryan, Thomas Francis and P. J. Carroll, they being led in the procession to the altar by Alderman Thomas J. Lyons. The ceremony was witnessed by many well-known residents of this city, including members of the city government and other city officers. One feature of the ceremony was the singing of "O Salutaris" and Ave Maria" by Harry Mozell. Following the ceremony there was a reception from 3 to 10 at the home of the bride's parents, 11 Oak avenue, which was attended by several hundred. Guests were informally received by the parents of the couple. A music program was furnished by an orchestra. After a wedding tour to various cities in New England the popular couple will reside on Oak avenue, West Newton, a short distance from the home of the bride's parents.

Newton Hospital

The regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Hospital was held in the parlor of the Nurses' Home of the Hospital Thursday afternoon, March 28, 1907, with President Bray in the chair. Reports were read relative to the Training School and by the Treasurer.

It appeared that there had been an unusual number of patients during the past three months. The largest number of patients in the Hospital on any one day was ninety-three and this exceeds any day's record of previous years. The reports showed that all departments of the Hospital were being well cared for and that the district nurses had made an unusually large number of calls.

The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions relative to the retiring president, Hon. Joseph R. Leeson which were as follows:—

"The letter of Hon. Joseph R. Leeson to the Trustees of the Newton Hospital stating that he could no longer serve as their President closes a long chapter of devoted service, which has perhaps never been equaled in the noble work done for this institution. Becoming identified with the Hospital in 1888, only a short time after it first opened its doors, he was, two years later, called to direct its affairs just before the most critical period in its history. To a depleted treasury with heavy indebtedness was added a serious dissension in its ranks which threatened to break up the organization, but through his wise counsel and persistent efforts the differences were adjusted, and the whole Board fused into one harmonious body, which has since gone steadily on with uninterrupted success. From his own funds he supplied the money needed to carry the institution through this time of conflict, in addition to presenting the George Leeson Memorial Ward. This record has been lived up to with a devotion most noteworthy. With few exceptions, every Sabbath in all these seventeen years found him at the Hospital, cheering the patients and encouraging the matron and her assistants, as he felt he could not do too much to assist those in charge in carrying on their arduous work. In the problems which continually arose, his breadth of view and keen intelligence have been most valuable, and he has left to those who succeed him an example that is an inspiration. While personal interests have compelled him to lay aside the greater part of his burden, we rejoice that he is not entirely separated from us, but as a member of the Board of Trustees, we still have his counsel and hearty support."

The meeting also unanimously voted to send a letter to Dr. Shinn reading as follows:—

"Your resignation from the Board of Trustees of the Newton Hospital, after a continuous service of twenty-six years, has been accepted with sincere regret. The trustees have today recorded and now desire to express to you their feeling of personal appreciation for the great service which you have rendered. They realize that it was your sympathy for the sick, your quick perception of the best and most permanent method of relieving their needs, and your tireless energy in impressing upon physicians and citizens the necessity of a hospital in Newton, that contributed so largely to its organization, and entitles you more than any one to the credit for its inception.

You have given generously of your time and strength as a member of the first Finance Committee and of the Executive Committee from 1887 to 1904, in promoting the growth and prosperity of the institution, and by your enthusiasm and efforts inspired others to share with you the responsibilities for its future. The growth in size and efficiency of the institution is the fruition of the early hopes which inspired you and your associates to endeavor great things. The reward of your efforts is in the gratitude of those to whose needs the hospital has and will continue to minister."

Notice was given that the Hospital Aid Association were to hold a May Day Festival and Donation Party on the grounds of the Hospital on the first day of May. Provision was also made for the construction of a fire escape and airing piazza on the Coburn ward.

Telephone Thieves

The police of this city have been asked by the New England telephone and telegraph company to assist in apprehending unknown persons who for several weeks have been robbing booths in various public places.

Officials of the telephone company state that numerous instruments have been taken out of pay stations, taken to some secluded place and there the contents removed from the metal money boxes.

Employees of the telephone company have been notified that they are liable to be questioned by the police when found carrying telephone instruments through the streets or other places, even though they may be doing so by instructions of higher employees.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Henry S. Nash D.D. of Cambridge will address the older boys' meeting at 3:15 Sunday afternoon.

Since Jan. '07 Chandler and Barber have presented an office partition to the Association. Mr. Wm. E. Litchfield a book case, Mr. M. H. Haase extensive repairs on the furniture, Mr. F. A. Day and Mr. Wm. T. Rich a new Neotype and a Friend a new piano. These generous gifts are much appreciated and add much to the appearance of the rooms and the convenience of members and of officers.

On May 6th will be held the annual meeting and banquet. All members please plan to attend.

Saturday saw the close of the team work in the junior classes of the gymnasium and resulted in a decided victory for the Orange team under its captain, Wm. Deutsche. On this Saturday morning at 11 A. M. will be held the first cross country run for the younger fellows. The event will be a handicap affair from Newtonville square to the Association Building and in the evening the Intermediate and Senior will have their run from the Association to West Newton and back again.

Plans are already being made for the summer, and requests are coming in daily for applications either for the mountains, Camp Becket, or the shore, at Camp Durrell. And there seems to be every reason to believe that Newton will be able to hold the cup which it won last year in the camp athletics.

The social side of the work is also coming to the front, for on Tuesday last the Intermediate members of the Department had their annual entertainment. The program was excellent, including cornet, violin, and tenor solos, with Mr. Dowst as reader. Of course it would not have been complete without his "Dunklespiel Goes Swimming". W. A. Coles the blind humorist and ventriloquist was the entertainer for the Junior and Preparatory Class night.

Last Sunday afternoon the parlor of the Association was packed with older boys and young men who came to hear Prof. Henry S. Nash, of Cambridge. He gave a talk on clean athletics which should have been heard by every young man in the city. Next Sunday sees the close of the afternoon meetings and the address will be made by Mr. C. W. Hamilton.

Mr. A. J. Sheafe, Huntington Chambers, Boston, has taught in Boston and New York city for about twelve years. He is the New England district supervisor and editor of the standard official authority of "Zoro's Grammar of the Art of Dancing." His edition of this work has been unanimously adopted as a text book by all English-speaking associations of dancing teachers, and as a text book for physical culture by fourteen colleges. Mr. Sheafe contemplates the opening of a Normal College for Dancing Teachers during July and August. It will be the only institution of the sort carrying out the full system of social and theatrical work in the world. Mr. Sheafe's new studio at the Huntington Chambers is, perhaps, the most attractive small hall in Boston, and his classes, which are wholly by invitation, attract persons of the better classes.

A new warm-weather liquid refreshment made its appearance in this city with the spring-like days this week, the brainstorm cocktail. The recipe is simple—secure a large size tumbler, fill with cracked ice and allow it to thaw.

Street Railway Notes

Fifteen-minute time was resumed by the Newton street railway system on the line from Newton Centre to Lake street, Chestnut Hill, last Monday at the suggestion of the railroad commissioners and at the request of the Newton Centre Improvement association. This service is between 8 A. M. and 6 P. M. Before and after these hours there is a 20-minute service. This arrangement continues until Oct. 1, when it will be determined whether or not it is advisable to make it permanent.

The Newton street railway company has petitioned for a location near the new Centre street bridge at Newton Centre. When completed the tracks on Cypress and Paul streets will be removed.

—Crosby's Restaurant, 19 School street, Boston, is a good place to dine at.

Canoeing Accident

The first canoeing accident of the year on the Charles river occurred Sunday afternoon. Two young men were coming down stream at a fair speed when a sudden lurch made by one caused the slight craft to turn turtle. Although they had on their street clothes they struck out for the shore and reached it with little difficulty. The Metropolitan park police under Sergt. Chapman assisted the men to the drying rooms of the police station at Auburndale, where after drying out and receiving the attendance of the Metropolitan officers they were apparently in as good condition as formerly. Their canoe was picked up down stream a short way.

Dangerous Point

"A very serious accident will happen at Brookline station some day when one of the express train 90-ton engines strike one of the loose joints and jumps the track."

This is the way one patron of the B. & A. put it to The Press a few days ago. This gentleman appeared very much concerned over the matter. He had every reason to be for a railroad accident generally results in loss of life and damage to property.

Possibly the New York Central officials have been kind enough to appropriate a few dollars for repairs in this section of their territory. If these repairs have not been made, any reader of The Press may see why the remark at the head of this article was made, by visiting the local depot and examining the joints at the rails at the east end of station on the outdoor track.

He will find that the bolts are loose with a side play of fully three-fourths of an inch on the joint plates. If he will happen there about the time the Newton express trains pass through, or any train for that matter, it will be readily seen what is meant, and how fortunate that no serious accident has occurred there. As we have stated, these repairs may be made before this is read, but if not "drop down and look the matter over." The New York Central is evidently economizing on track inspectors, as it is in many other departments.—Brookline Press.

A Wonderful Story of Patience, Endurance and Pluck

Dear Editor:

In the town of Wellington, Mo., 40 miles eastward from Kansas City, lives a man, 36 years of age, who for twenty years has lain on his back, in one position, without power to turn, or to be turned, with all but three of his joints completely ossified so that they are as solid as if he was a marble statue. His jaws are firmly set. When this came, he was obliged to have a tooth pried out, or die of slow starvation. Six years ago his best friend on earth died, his dear mother, she, who for fifteen years had been his loving caretaker, now what happened? He was alone in the world. If any one ever had a valid excuse to say that some one must support him Tom Lockhart was the one. On the other hand what did he do then? He went to work. Think of it dear sympathizing reader! For six years, last past, he has supported himself and nurse by writing. I think he has his own home, but all his living expenses he has earned. He writes little books and sells them. He has three of them, and they are noble writings, one is a history of his life, 20 cents; another "Musing on the Mysteries of Life, an Idea of an Invalid"; the other a novel. It is a very great wonder how a person in his condition, could think up such a fine story, in which wit, humor, pathos and sound morals are blended together. This book is 50 cents. The three are $1.00. He also writes for the new "Ladies' Daily", the only ladies' daily, I think, in the world, and takes subscription for it on which he gets a commission. The publication is only six months' old and it already has 200,000 subscribers. Price, $1.00 a year, six days a week. He is trying for one of the prizes for getting subscribers. If any of the charitable inclined readers of the GRAPHIC wish to aid our suffering friend I should be happy to be the medium of transmitting their gifts. I would like to quote from his book what he says he has to be thankful for but I fear to make this article too long. Suffice to say that it takes more than a page of his book to tell his reasons of thankfulness. Contributions can be sent direct to Thos. F. Lockhart, Wellington, Missouri, or to me, 192 Austin street, Newtonville, Mass. I am, for this cause of humanity,

Very truly yours,

Horatio Carter.

Reception

The reception given at the Bigelow school last Friday afternoon by the master and the teachers of the district was a most interesting occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Chase were assisted in receiving the parents and friends of the school, by Supt. and Mrs. Spaulding, Hon. and Mrs. H. E. Bothfield, Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins and the teachers of the Bigelow and Underwood schools. The teachers also acted as ushers and introduced the several hundred guests to the school authorities. The hall was tastefully decorated with palms and ferns and the refreshment tables were in charge of Mrs. William R. Dewey and Mrs. J. N. Damon. Music was furnished on the piano by the Misses Esther Wing, Dorothy Emmons and Master Foster Damon, while the Misses Mildred Clark, Emily Wellington, Marion Lord, Edith Jamieson, Dorothy Emmons and Esther Wing served the guests with frappe and candy.

Funeral of John M. Stickney

Funeral services for John M. Stickney were held at two o'clock Friday afternoon at his home on Birch Hill road, Newtonville. There were present at the funeral a number of former business associates and many friends of the family.

The services were conducted by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, assisted by Rev. John M. Goddard of the Church of the New Jerusalem in the same district. Following the services the body was taken to Dalton, Mass., for burial.

A reception will be given at the Newton Hospital on May Day in charge of the Hospital Aid Association.

The coal offices throughout the city will close Saturdays at 12 o'clock from May 1st to October 1st.

Boston Grand Opera House.—The offering at the Boston Grand Opera House next week will be Robert Fitzsimmons, the noted pugilist actor, in Hal Reid's best comedy, "A Fight for Love." The play is in four acts, and is described as being one of the most consistent that Mr. Reid has ever written. Mr. Fitzsimmons is seen in a role of a retired country gentleman, and it is said that Bob has developed into an actor of considerable merit. The play gives ample scope to display his talents. The supporting company is a large and thoroughly capable one and comprises the names of many well-known people. Matinees will be given as usual on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Right Kind of Refrigerator

There are few household articles of more real importance than the refrigerator. The question of the right kind of a refrigerator is of more importance than most people imagine. The inner cases of the "Hall" refrigerator are covered with a patent three-ply odorless charcoal sheathing paper-felt, made expressly for them, and which, it is claimed, causes a saving of at least twenty-five percent in the consumption of ice. There are other features about the construction of this firm's refrigerators that are worth considering: An improperly made article spoils the food, and may bring serious illness to an entire family. The right kind of refrigerator should be clean; free circulation of cold, dry air, making wholesome and sweet. The right kind is that manufactured by A. D. Hall & Son, 33 to 41 Spice street, Charlestown district. Their refrigerator is always clean, wholesome, and sweet.

Hunnell Club

There was a good attendance at the joint whist with the Newton Club Monday night. The scores were as follows:

Copeland and Delano	plus 9
Brown and Priest	6
Hall and Snyder	4
Casey and Snrague	4
Cummings and Smith	3
Enstis and Watson	2
Crampton and Marston	minus 1
Tolman and Uhler	2
Loring and Marble	3 1/2
Pearson and Loveland	7
Sawyer and White	7
Bonney and Marshall	9 1/2

The finish of the bowling tournament is causing considerable interest as three teams are bunched for the finals. Capt. Learned's team with 28 wins has 8 more games to roll, Capt. Tucker's team with 28 wins has 4 more games to roll, and Capt. Loring's team with 26 wins has 4 more games. The match a week from next Monday between Capt. Learned and Capt. Tucker ought to be interesting.

A duffer's match for the 8 lowest scores during April is now under way.

Death of Mr. Bartholomew

Mr. Walter N. Bartholomew, the well-known artist, died at his home, No. 1284 Centre street, Newton Centre, on last Friday morning, aged eighty-five. He was a native of Boston, born on the site of the present post office. He received a public school education, and when comparatively a young man originated and introduced the system of drawing in the Boston public schools, about fifty-six years ago. This was the first introduction of this art in the schools of Boston, and in fact the first in this country and later his system was extensively used throughout the United States. Mr. Bartholomew's specialty in art work of late years has been in watercolor and wood interiors, in which he excelled. He leaves a widow and two sons, Arthur E. of Claremont, N. H., and Walter E. of Norwich, Conn.

Funeral services were held from the family residence Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First church, where deceased attended and there were numerous floral tributes. The remains were taken to Post Mills, New York, for burial.

WOMAN'S WORLD

The West Newton Women's Educational Club held its regular meeting on April 12. The members were glad to welcome Mrs. Burris once more after her illness. After a brief report of legislative matters Mrs. Gorton, chairman of the Social Science Committee, who had in charge the program, introduced Rabbi Charles Fleischer. Rabbi Fleischer's subject was "Women in a Democracy" and he was listened to with close attention. He defined democracy as the organization of society on the basis of respect for the individual. The new woman, he said, is not the one who cuts her hair short and shortens her skirts but the one who is touched by the influence of democracy. New social conditions have produced new men and new women. The man of today is new just as the woman is new. It is hard for the old man to accept the new woman. All old men and women are not old nor all new men and women are not young. One age overlaps another. Product of the older civilization co-exists with the newer civilization. Oldness and newness is a matter of achievement or of temperament. Old men and old women are the product of autocracy. All man-made institutions need to be made over and over again. Most of our present institutions are the result of male autocracy. It is a comparative rare man who has become democratic in his relation to woman and to the family. We are a democracy only in name as long as we deny suffrage to women. The right of suffrage should be determined by a horizontal plane rather than by a vertical one. We are suffering from the long established "man rule." A completely democratic people does not exist, we are as yet only slightly democratic. Women everywhere are proving their ability to stand on equal footing with men. The new woman is being lifted by democracy to her normal level. She must not be satisfied to be less than she can be. He deprecated the tendency of many a woman to be content to waste her time and power when her household duties do not entirely engross her. The economic organization of society has emancipated woman, has removed her from drudgery

It is apart from truth to say that woman's sphere is the home. If it is, so is man's. Woman's sphere and career will be where her individual ability takes her. Right millions of women in America have proved their economic worth outside the home. All women are not housekeepers and homemakers. Woman's marital relation should not absorb all her time any more than it does the man's. She should try to adjust herself to these new conditions and see that her powers do not go to waste. There is an influence at work that demands a readjustment of social conditions. It is mainly for the better that women are becoming conscious of their individuality. When it is fully realized she will not marry as a career. Then the marriage relationship will be exalted and the whole human race will be uplifted. The women of today are largely the result of the "man rule" for the ages past.

The next meeting on April 26 will be the annual meeting and the last of the season. The club will meet at four o'clock for the business, the annual reports and the election of officers. Supper will be served and at the close a short time will be given to the commemoration of the Longfellow centennial, after which there will be a platform entertainment by the Hayden trio and Miss Nina Bearse Wilbur, dramatic reader and impersonator.

Rev. Franklin S. Hatch gave a talk on "What lessons we can learn from the study of India" at the meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands on Monday, April 14. A social hour with light refreshments followed. The club will meet with Mrs. Stone next week when Ida C. Allen will lecture on "Books Old and New."

The Executive Committee of the Federation Bazaar at its meeting on April 14 decided to open the Bazaar on May 15 and continue it through the week, closing on Saturday.

You Don't Have To

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drugist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The advocates of the public opinion bill fail to realize that the 20th century is different from the 18th and that the constituencies of John Hancock and his colleagues, were all neighbors and friends of the representatives to the General Court. Moreover the voting population of that period was composed of men of property; the present day poll tax voter was unknown, and every voter had a personal interest in the affairs of state. Theoretically the same is true today, but actually, the average voter has little conception of the scope and effect of even the most important bills now before the Legislature. We believe most thoroughly in keeping the selection of elected officials as close as possible to the people, and then giving them full discretion in the exercise of their duties.

The great and general court continues to knock common sense out of the civil service laws by allowing veterans (?) of the Spanish war fifteen per cent bonus on all examinations taken by them.
The present exemption laws for Civil War veterans are bad enough for effective civil administration, and to favor the Spanish war soldiers will deepen the despair of advocates of the selection of the best persons for governmental positions.

Savings banks all over the state are calling the books of their depositors for verification as required every three years by the state law. Our local banks ask that this verification be made during the present month and our readers will assist the bank officials by an early compliance with their request to turn in the books.

The possible nomination of Douglas and Whitney by the Democratic party next fall, should make the Republicans sit up and take notice. Gov. Guild will have no walk over against ex-governor Douglas and Mr. Draper's narrow plu-ralities in the past sound a call for assistance in the coming campaign.

Our brief criticism of the appointment of Mr. de las Casas to the Metropolitan park commission has brought forth many expressions of approval. It is evident that the opposition to Mr. de las Casas is wide spread.

New Pastor

A new minister has come to Newton Upper Falls and the people of Newton will be interested to know something about him. He succeeds the Rev. O. W.
Scott, who has been conspicuously successful at the Methodist Episcopal Church, which is the honored mother of the Methodistism in this vicinity. Mr.
Healy has been appointed by Bishop Henry W. Warren to this interesting and important church. The committee elected to confer with the Bishop in regard to a new pastor have been most painstaking in their work. They have heard several men preach and have looked the conference over with great thoroughness and finally settled on the Rev.
Walter Healy with unanimity and enthusiasm. Mr. Healy was born in Argentine, Michigan, August 1874, and is therefore thirty-two years of age. His father is a farmer and the young minister owes his splendid health to the exercise and work which farm life brings.
He took his preparatory course at Flint High School and graduated with high honors from Algon College, Michigan, in 1899. He has had considerable experience as a teacher, but decided that the ministry must be his life calling. By hard work and marked ability he completed the course in the School of Theology in Boston University in two years receiving his degree in 1901. That spring he joined the New England Conference and has had two pastorates of three years each at Millbury and East Dorham, Mass.

His wife was a successful school teacher in Michigan and is a most efficient helper in his ministry. They have two children, a daughter nearly five and a baby boy. Mr. Healy is an attractive personality and a promising young preacher. His good nature, robust health through training, quiet industry and earnest piety predict his success in Newton and in any other field to which his work may call him.

Mother Goose Party

Elaborate costumes and attractive dances were features of a Mother Goose party in Temple hall, Newtonville last Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the woman's circle of the Universalist church.

Mother Goose, in a most appropriate costume was represented by Mrs. J. L.
Atwood, and headed the parade in which there were upward of 50 children in costume. A Spanish dance was given by Miss Mildred Macomber and fancy dancing by Miss Majorie Soden and Paul Jones Farnum.

A most enjoyable feature of the afternoon was furnished by two Italian children, Matilda Grosse and Andrew Disocchi, dressed in costume. Matilda's dancing and harp solos were heartily encored and her duet with Andrew, who played the accordion were also well received.

The hall was prettily decorated, and there was a large number of parents and friends present. The children were drilled by Mrs. J. L. Atwood and Mrs.
Albert Hammatt. Among the costumes were: Geraldine Clancy, queen of hearts; Catherine Kimball, Mary and lamb; Lola Shaw, Red Riding Hood; Fay Shaw, flower; Eleanor Banchoff, Kate Greenaway; Dorothy Banchoff, fairy; Gordon Banchoff, page; Ruth Hills,

Trackless Trolley

Petitions are in circulation asking the city government to grant a location to the American Trackless Trolley Co. from Newton Highlands to the West Roxbury line. This route has long been desired by street railway men but the initial expense for construction has prevented actual work. The new scheme of a trackless trolley will obviate the great problem of expense and seems extremely practical. The trackless trolley exactly describes the new plan. It is an electric car run by overhead power but with automobile body and wheels and can be guided from one side of the street to the other, thru an ingenious arrangement of the trolley poles. In ordinary trolley cars the pressure on the trolley wire is only upward. In the new car the pressure is upward and outward the trolley wheel running horizontally instead of vertically. The advantages of the trackless trolley are many. It saves an outlay of some $12,000 per mile for track construction. Its cars weigh but three tons against eight tons for the regular cars. No portion of the street is devoted to car use, the cars passing and repassing like ordinary teams or omnibuses. Cars can pass each other on the same street by simply pulling off one trolley and continuing after the other has passed. Snow and ice cannot effect the running of the cars as it is not necessary to make a ground to obtain the power. All in all the new scheme seems well worth trying and the Company evidently will inaugurate a new era in street transportation.

High School Notes

The baseball game with Hyde Park for last Saturday was cancelled because of the snow. The first game was played Tuesday with Roxbury Latin. The home team won easily by a score of 13 to 6.
Bradford, last year's pitcher, showed up in his old style.

There is to be a game Friday morning at the Cedar street grounds with Boston Latin.

Mr. Thompson spoke to the candidates for out door track in the lecture hall Thursday after school. A large number of candidates showed up.

Gallagher has been chosen captain of the Freshman baseball team.

Miss Virginia Tapley of the sophomore class has returned to school after being absent all winter with a broken leg received in a coasting accident.

The reports for the third quarter came out Wednesday.

Newton Club.

Nearly a hundred ladies played whist Wednesday afternoon in two sections, one for bridge and the other for straight whist. The prize winners at bridge were Mesdames Salinger, Nash, Jellerson, Roffe and Richardson, while Mrs. Young Mrs. Casey and Mrs. McClellan took the honors at whist.

Reception

The opening reception of the West Newton Day Nursery, last Friday, was most auspicious. A large number called to leave generous donations and to inspect the house both afternoon and evening. Mrs. Dr. Neal was in charge of the donations and each member of the Association acted as hostess and guide for the many guests. The tea table was in charge of Miss Marjorie Bullivant, assisted by the Misses Josephine Carpenter, Helen Freeman, Dorothy Dowse, Dorothy Howland, Margaret Baldwin, Helen Newhall and others.

The officers of the Association are Mrs. Chas. H. Ames, president; Mrs.
John T. Prince, Mrs. Geo. A. Frost and Mrs. J. C. Jaynes, vice presidents; Mrs.
John W. Carter, treas.; Mrs. Levi Warren, asst. treas.; Mrs. Win. A. Young, secretary and Miss Helen Albro, matron. Six babies are already cared for by the Nursery and it will undoubtedly fill a long felt need in the community.

the ensuing year:

The subject of "Child Labor" was presented to the Social Science Club by Mrs. Frank R. Matthews at its meeting on Wednesday morning, April 17. Mrs.
Matthews traced the history from early times when the child began to work almost as soon as it could walk, but always under the direction and with its parents, up to the present day. With the introduction of machinery and the manufacture of textiles in factories the problem of child labor has become a serious and an economic one. To the shame of the United States we are classed with Russia in the extent to which it is allowed, in the absence of restrictive laws. In the last thirty-six years since we have had statistics from which to draw information, the number of children between the ages of ten and fifteen employed in labor other than agriculture has increased from 90,000 in 1870 to more than 700,000 in 1900; while there are today 2,000,000 in all occupations. Mrs. Matthews spoke of the conditions in various industries where children are employed dwelling particularly on the cotton mills of the South. That such conditions exist in this country is due to the greed of the parents, the greed of employers and the greed of the community. She then compared conditions in various parts of the country and showed the need of uniform laws.
Where there are laws restricting child labor there should also be compulsory education laws to render the others effective. She also urged the necessity for good factory inspectors.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature authorizing the Police Benefit Association to pay $200 to a member on death of his wife.

Mysterious Glass Balls.

According to a foreign correspondent of the geological survey at Washington, among the most interesting features of the small island of Billiton, between Sumatra and Borneo, an island long famous for its rich tin mines, controlled by the Dutch government, are the "glass balls of Billiton," found among the tin ore deposits. These natural glass balls are round, with grooved surfaces. Similar phenomena are occasionally found in Borneo and Java as well as in Australia. The correspondent quoted thinks they cannot be artificial, and there are no volcanoes near enough to support the theory that they are volcanic bombs. Besides, it is claimed, the glassy rocks produced by the nearest volcanoes are quite different in their nature from the material of the balls. It is suspected that the mysterious objects were ejected ages ago from the volcanoes of the moon and afterward fell upon the earth.

"Caracul"—Its Etymology.

I have often been asked for the etymology of "caracul," which is a term now largely used by furriers to denote a variety of the fur called astrakhan.
The new English dictionary does not contain caracul, but it has caracul, which is liable to be confused with it, though really quite a different word.
The caracul is an animal, but caracul, like the nearly synonymous term, astrakhan, is the name of a place—Kara Kul—i. e., the Black lake, near Bokhara, which has long been celebrated for its output of furs. The earliest reference I can find to it in English is in Matthew Arnold's "Sohrab and Rustum."

And on his head he set his sheepskin cap, Black, glossy, curled, the sheeps of Kara Kul.

Living in the Electric Light.

Writing to a friend in the country, a New York merchant says: "I live in the electric light. I leave my home at 7 o'clock, after dressing and taking my breakfast by electric light. Then I go to the subway, one block distant, and ride to within a block of my office.
There I work all day by electric light and go home again by the subway and spend the evening in the glare of the incandescent lamp. The weather conditions make no difference, because my flat and my office belong to the semidark kind. Sometimes I wonder what I would do without electric light, and sometimes I ask myself when I yearn for a little sunlight, Is the new light really a blessing?"—New York Tribune.

John Stuart Mill.

The genius of this great Englishman was such that before he was twenty he was recognized as the champion and future leader of a powerful school of philosophy and politics. John Stuart Mill is said to have studied Greek at the age of three and at fourteen had begun logic and political economy.
The writings and doctrines of this master mind were and are still read and preached not only in this country, but throughout the world. John Stuart Mill stands out prominently among nineteenth century thinkers.—London Mail.

Boy Hurt

While running across Centre street toward his home at 7:30 Tuesday night, Edward C. Burns, the 9-year old son of Edward S. Burns, 35 Carleton street, was run down by an automobile and sustained a broken leg.

The automobile was numbered 17926 and was owned by L. O. Crane, 300 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill.
The boy was taken into the automobile and hurried to the office of Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher, where it was found that the fracture was below the knee. He was then removed to the Newton hospital.

Brass teakettles—or, in fact, any article of brass with the exception of Bennars ware—can easily be cleaned in the following way: First wash the brass well in suds of water with soap. This will remove all dirt from the article, leave it free from grease and give it a semi-polish. Then an extra polish may be put on with a good brass polish. If the brass looks hopelessly tarnished any good powder that is used for cleaning silver or brass if moistened with vinegar and applied vigorously will remove the tarnish and leave a shiny surface.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS.

Place over the fire one cup of molasses half cup of granulated sugar and a fourth of a cup of water and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Then add two tablespoonsful of butter and two squares or ounces of chocolate. Stir until the chocolate melts, then cook without stirring until it hardens in cold water.
Flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla.
This candy must be cooked very slowly, otherwise there is danger of its burning.

To make rubber shoes wear longer, from the tops of old rubber shoes cut pieces the shape of a heel. Smear these pieces on the lining side with thick muciego, or any sticky substance, and place in the heels of rubbers, pressing down firmly. These protectors prevent the rubber from receiving the direct pressure of the boot heels, and can be renewed when they show the least signs of wear.

The funeral service was preceded by a most touching and impressive christening service, in which the baby boy was named Robert Albion Cabot, a name which had been chosen by the mother. The presence of a large number of her college friends bore witness to the honor and affection in which she was held by the members of her college fraternity. Woman's World

Conducted by MISS GRACE M. BURT.

The Waban Woman's Club met Monday afternoon, April 8, at the home of Mrs. Hubert Lane, Pine Ridge road. After the regular business meeting Rabbi Charles Fleischer lectured to the club on "Human Nature." The next meeting will be held in Waban hall, April 22. It will be Children's Day.

The Newton Equal Suffrage League gave a day on April 5 for the benefit of the Federation Bazaar at the home of the president, Mrs. G. F. Lowell, Newtonville. Much good work was accomplished in the endeavor that the League may aid every table of the Bazaar, in return for which later on the other organizations will assist the League's special table for food and sample packages. It was a most enjoyable occasion to all who attended. Mr. Dooley's article on Woman's Suffrage was read and Mrs. Lowell's children entertained the ladies with an exhibition of their numerous pets and delightful cello and vocal music. A delicious luncheon was provided by the hostess. The League is growing rapidly in numbers and interest. The next meeting will be held on May 3rd with Mrs. N. T. Allen, West Newton. There will be eminent Armenian speakers as well as Miss Alice Stone Blackwell.

Spring Meeting of State Federation.

The spring meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation was held at Concord, April 11, by invitation of the Concord Woman's Club. More than two hundred club women arrived by the morning train from Boston, while the electric brought large numbers from the neighboring towns, so that the church was well filled before the appointed hour for opening. The half hour previous to both morning and afternoon sessions was given up to an organ recital by Mr. Francis T. Jackson. At ten-thirty the meeting was called to order by Miss Helen A. Whittier, President of the Federation, and Mrs. Henry C. Rolfe, President of the hostess club, was presented. Mrs. Rolfe gave a warm welcome to the delegates and mentioned many of the attractions which they might see if time permitted. Miss Whittier in her response said, if she might be pardoned personal allusion, that this last regular session over which she should preside was meeting in the birthplace of her mother, while the first session after she became president met in Lowell, her own birthplace. Then followed a solo by Mrs. Virginia Lee Tewksbury, a member of the hostess club and chairman of the reception committee.

Hon. Homer Folke, Secretary of the State Charities Aid Association of New York, had expected to be present and speak upon "The Juvenile Court," but pressing legislative matters at the Albany prevented at the last moment. His telegram of regret was read by Miss Whittier and Mr. Warren S. Spaulding, Secretary of the Massachusetts Prison Association, was introduced in his stead. Mr. Spaulding spoke with authority from out of his long experience and was listened to with close attention as he pointed out the old methods of dealing with youthful offenders and contrasted with them the new. Formerly boys from seven to seventeen were tried for misdemeanors in the same court room and in the same manner as hardened men criminals and imprisoned in the same jails. He told of many specific cases that had come under his attention where boys have been kept in jail for thirty days for failure to pay fines. The times which they have had at such times with older criminals has had a most pernicious effect. The new attitude as embodied in the new law for the Juvenile Court rewards the offender as a delinquent and the Court endeavors to deal with the future of the boy rather than the past, seeking to correct his faults and to give him aid, encouragement and guidance, through a probation system. He distinguished carefully between the boy criminal—one who has criminal instincts—and the criminal boy, the one who has committed a crime. He also laid stress upon the necessity for those who are seeking to mind boy erring boys to keep firmly in mind the boy nature when considering the nature of their offenses. He said that the gang has been much abused. It is instinct to belong to something. You women have your clubs. Poor homes and lack of amusement are largely responsible for leading boys to commit misdemeanors. He emphasized the great value of boys' clubs as means of keeping them off the streets. "There is something more important for a boy to learn than respect for authority and that is self-respect. He should be taught personal rights and property rights and whoever is working to aid him should strive to bring him into such character that he won't want to do wrong. Nothing commensurate in his estimation with the present system of probation as a corrective measure. The probation officer should get into touch with the father and mother, to change the character of the home, if need be and in time change over the boy. Mr. Warren spoke of the great need of volunteer service and showed by concrete example what the personal touch of a personal friend can accomplish.

Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy then spoke on "Present Phases of the Child Labor Question." After congratulating his audience upon the public spirit that has been awakened in Massachusetts in behalf of the child and the notable progress that Massachusetts has made he said in part:

"The most important step that has been taken in any year of our National history, is that by which Congress has authorized an investigation of the conditions of working women and children. The bills introduced by Senators Lodge, Beveridge and others, calling for the Federal regulation of child-labor, have created far more discussion than this, but for practical effectiveness the authorization of this special investigation exceeds, in my judgment, any national law yet proposed. We need facts, and these we shall hope to receive from the thorough investigation contemplated by the Department of Commerce and Labor. One phase of the problem, especially of interest to the people of your state, is the activity of many of the New England stockholders of Southern Cotton mills. They are making personal appeal to the directors and managers of Southern mills for such opposition to the employment of little children as shall speedily remove the reproach of what is so often fittingly described as "child slavery." The most valuable official contribution that has thus far been made to the literature on this subject emanates from our own state. The report submitted a year ago by your special commission on Industrial and Technical Education is the most enlightening official document on the relation of child-labor to education which has appeared in America. This report not only demonstrates the worthlessness of child-labor from the economic standpoint, but still further shows the extent to which our Commonwealth has developed the idea of practical education, and points out clearly the steps that must yet be taken before the twentieth century American child is guaranteed that which our industrial civilization owes him, namely: adequate preparation for a life of honorable and self-supporting employment.

May I express the hope that this Federation of Women's Clubs will tell the people that this Commonwealth must protect its children not because it is right to do so but because it is sane. Let us press the contention amply demonstrated by a century of factory history: that the premature employment of the child is a severe menace to physical, moral and intellectual standards; that society in self-defense is compelled to protect its offspring from the hard exactions of industrial competition.

Luncheon was served in the Town Hall under the direction of the hostess club to about 600.

At the opening of the afternoon session notice was given of the annual meeting of the Federation to be held at Great Barrington on June 18 and 19, when Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, President of the General Federation, will be present as well as several other women prominent in the club world.

Hon. Frank B. Sanborn, who had occupied a seat on the platform during the morning, was introduced and spoke briefly. After mentioning a new book on Concord and his interest in the subject of the morning, he said that the evil of the ill-health of children had impressed him seriously. He thought there should be some provision for steady employment for children from 7 to 14. Industrial education, he said, should play an important part in the public school education. Another great evil of the present day comes largely from the accumulation of population in large cities. When this can be overcome a large part of the national evil will be solved.

The first address of the afternoon was given by Mr. George E. Johnson, Superintendent of Schools in Hyde Park, on "The Country Boy." Mr. Johnson said that the nature and tendency of the boy is much the same whether he is in the country or in the city. It is natural and easy for a boy to be a success when given a fair chance and it is mainly our fault when he seeks his own in the wrong way. He emphasized the importance of free active play in the fresh air and sunshine. The public day nursery and park are as necessary as the public school. He spoke of the great need of indoor play-rooms for the winter time and of the playground for country children. He, too, voiced the danger of idleness. He then outlined an experiment which was tried in Andover known as the "Play School," which has been carried on for six weeks during the summer vacation. Opportunity was given for outdoor sports, nature work, the collecting of specimens, gardening, cooking, drawing, woodwork, swimming for both boys and girls, sewing and dancing for the girls, boxing and wrestling for the boys, and singing—all under competent leaders. The limit of applicants was soon reached and the whole enterprise proved a great success. The ignorance of the country boy is astonishing.

Mrs. Mary Pamela Rice, President of the Mothers' and Fathers' Club, was the last speaker of the afternoon. Mrs. Rice told of an enterprise carried on by her club, a summer home for city children in the country. Her club rented a home and have taken ten or twelve children at a time, children of varying ages that it might have a more resemblance to a family. A cook was hired and the club members went out in relays to have charge. She showed with how little expense it can be carried on and how great a return there is for the pains and urged other clubs to embark upon a similar plan.

Three new clubs were presented for membership in the Federation: the Pepperell Woman's Club, the South End Woman's Club, and the Shrewsbury Woman's Club. The meeting closed with two selections by a ladies' quartet.

The Russian Famine Relief Committee publishes the following appeal by Russian women to American women: "At present the temperature in this village is in the neighborhood of 20 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. Many of the peasants are living in holes dug underground. They are almost naked and without fuel. Their food is a sort of bread made of ground acorns or other uncleanables, to which has been added a little rye meal. Typhus, scurvy and blindness, resulting from starvation, are on all sides striking down grown-up people and children. This is not a single village; there are thousands like it, and these thousands of villages have no hope unless help can come to them from the outside. Seventy-five cents will keep an adult alive for a month. It is bitter to ask for alms; but it is still more bitter to look on these agonies with empty hands."

The last meeting of the Pierian Club was held with Mrs. Ryder, Wednesday afternoon, April 10. "The Rhyme of the Ancient Mariner" was read by Mrs. Sweet. "The Commercial Products of the Ocean" was given by Mrs. Hemphill. By request, a talk on the "Federation Bazaar" was given by Mrs. Taylor, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

Among the passengers on the S.S. "Saxonia" leaving Boston for Liverpool on Tuesday, was Mr. Charles E. Lauriat, president of Charles E. Lauriat Company, who is starting on his annual trip abroad to find new and old books with which to enrich the stock of their handsome store opposite the head of Franklin street. For years the company has made a specialty of standard sets in good editions that are bound for them abroad in their own exclusive styles, and this means that some one has to be in close touch all the time with dealers and binders in England and France particularly. Besides this, the choice old and rare books that form another specialty, have to be searched for and as Mr. Lauriat has been making these trips for about a quarter of a century, he is perfectly familiar with the ground to be covered.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre.—The next attraction at this theatre will be a return engagement of Mr. James K. Hackett, one of the most popular players on the American stage, who will be seen in a modern society play, entitled "The Walls of Jericho." Mr. Hackett is seen in this play, not in the attire of any romantic period, but in the dress of this day. Mr. Hackett plays the hero, John Frohisher, and it is said that he achieves the greatest success of his career. His impersonation of John Frohisher being an intensely human nature, and sincere, as is the character itself. Mr. Hackett has given the play a production that is in every way worthy of it, and has surrounded himself with a company that in every way helps the atmosphere of the play. The company includes Messrs. David Glassford, Arthur R. Lawrence, J. Cleary Matthews, Orlando Daly, H. Newkirk Clugston, John Honore, E. Atkinson, P. Jefferson Rollow, Frank A. Noroton, F. A. Sullivan, F. Frederick, Miss Mary Elizabeth Forbes, Miss Evelyn Wiedling, Miss Blanche Ellice, Mrs. Felix Morris, Miss Isabel Goodwin, Miss Grace Gardner, Miss Catherine Calhoun and Miss Beatrice Beckley.

GLOBE THEATRE.

John Craig and his capable company have brought to a close their very successful short spring tour through some of the larger near-by cities, and preparations are now well under way for the opening of their summer season at the Globe Theatre on Monday, April 29. The opening production will be David Belasco's "The Heart of Maryland" for which Mr. Craig has secured a largely augmented company. Some of the original scenery, including the famous belvedere set being sent over from New York especially for this production. Mr. Craig promises several splendid plays during his summer season. The sale of seats which is now progressing indicates not only a keen interest in the opening play but shows a deeper interest than ever before in the entire season of this talented company.

Keith's Theatre.—Following shortly after the departure of Vesta Victoria, who has shown the patrons of Keith's the style of work done by the best of the English comedienne, will come Ethel Levey, whose methods are purely American and who is a capital representative of our own leading comedienne. Since her return to the vaudeville stage some six months ago, Miss Levey has had no trouble in re-establishing herself as one of the cleverest of our female entertainers, a reputation she enjoyed when she left vaudeville for musical comedy. She will sing several songs written especially for her during her engagement, which is for the week of April 22nd only. There will be a warm welcome awaiting Miss C. Rice and Sally Cohen, who are to play their latest farcette, "All the World Loves a Lover." Another notable feature of the bill will be the re-appearance of Rice and Prevost, the most famous and amusing of all the knockabout acrobats in their droll specialty, "Bumpy Bumps." Smith and Campbell, the original side-walk conversationalists, who have an entirely new line of small talk; the Willis Family, very talented musicians; May Edouin and Fred Edwards, in their bright sketch, "A Bachelor's Dream"; Leona Thurber and her Blackbirds, the best of the pickaninny acts; the Murray sisters, two very clever comedians and Borani and Vevoro in a novel contortion specialty, will all be among the feature acts. The Holman Brothers, horizontal bar comiques; Leonard and Drake, imitators of birds and animals; Siegfried, a wonderful one-legged athlete; Hill and Hill, brisk rag-timers, and the Kinetograph will complete the show.

Police Report

The annual report of Chief of Police Frederic M. Mitchell, which has just been issued, shows 1012 arrests in the past year. There were 459 arrests for drunkenness. Among other arrests for offenses comparatively unusual in this city were three for evading car fare, six for false weight, one for illegal use of milk jars, one for polygamy, two for throwing stones, for conducting an unlicensed second-hand shop, 10 for violation of the dog law and three for violation of the milk law. There were 53 arrests for violation of the automobile law, most of which were for overspeeding on Commonwealth avenue. At 93 fires during the year a total of 385 policemen turned out. The police secured 361 buildings which had been left unlocked, and rendered assistance in 109 accidents. Property to the value of $3280 was stolen in this city in 1906, of which $2637.78 worth was recovered. A total of 1134 cases were investigated. The expenses of the department were $73,876.08, which was $198.17 less than the appropriations. The report contains two half tone pictures of patrolman William C. Bosworth, who died March 2, 1906, after 24 years' police service in this city, and patrolman William H. Furdon, who was killed while on duty August 12 by attempting to remove a dangerous live wire. The force now consists of 66 persons, including one matron and one clerk.

Dr. Burr's Death

The report of the inquest on the death of Dr. Everett D. Burr was filed April 7 by Judge William E. Fowler. It says: "He came to his death at about 7 o'clock by falling from the New York express at Westboro. The body was found by a train crew on the south, or eastbound, track, from a quarter to half a mile west of Westboro station. It was found in parts extending along the track over 400 feet." The court says there was no evidence that the death was due to the negligent act of any corporation or person, nor the negligence of any other than himself, nor that it was other than accidental.

THEATRES.

Castle Square—One of the most characteristic features of the Castle Square Theatre is its home atmosphere, due in large part to the subscription system that enables regular patrons to secure the same seats week after week. Any person can become a subscriber without expense other than attendance at the performance of each play. A subscriber is allowed to select his own seats in any part of the house, and the seats he selects are reserved for him each week as long as he desires, on condition that the tickets are taken regularly one week in advance. Failure to take the tickets in any week simply cancels the privilege and incurs no liability whatever. The operation of the subscription system on such a large scale is the reason for the "family" atmosphere of the Castle Square Theatre. It is important to notice that during the summer opera season, beginning a week from next Monday, April 29th, the subscription system will be retained. Subscribers who wish to retain their present seats for the opera season must give notice to that effect at once, prior to next Monday, when all unreserved seats will be opened to public demand. The admission of subscribers indicates an enormous number of subscribers. These who wish to reserve their present seats or to apply for others, for the regular dramatic season opening September 2nd should give immediate notice to that effect.

Furniture needs cleaning as much as other woodwork. It may be washed with warm soapsuds, quickly wiped dry and then rubbed with an oily cloth. A good polish is made by mixing three parts of linseed oil and one part of spirits of turpentine. Apply with a woolen cloth and when dry rub well with a dry woolen cloth. This is a specially good polish for scratched or marred furniture and will restore the color and luster to varnish.

—A young man living on Columbia street is the subject of considerable good-natured bantering as a result of a burglar scare several nights ago. Returning home about midnight he was alarmed to learn that burglars were supposed to be preparing to break into his own home. Peering into the darkness he distinguished a crouching form moving about to the rear of the dwelling. After telephoning for police assistance he secured a lantern and went boldly out into the dead of the night on a personally conducted burglar hunt, but not until after considerable persuasion. He skillfully tracked down a neighbor dumping rubbish accumulated in house cleaning operations preparatory to moving to another house.

When leaving Boston in June, the Enterprise will go first to Hampton Roads, for the Jamestown Exposition. The details of the summer cruise have not yet been decided upon by the commissioners.

NEW BANKING BUILDING TO BE BUILT ON CONGRESS ST.

Firm of Hornblower & Weeks Will Have a Handsome New Home In the Financial District.

A NOTABLE addition to the costly and commodious banking buildings in the center of the financial district of Boston will be the new edifice to be erected on the site of the old Howe building numbered 60 Congress street, at the corner of Water and Hawes streets, now occupied in part by the National Shawmut bank.

This valuable parcel recently was bought by the trustees of the Congress street associates, owners of the State Mutual building, and as soon as vacated by the lessees will be razed and the site covered by a new structure.

The new building has been leased for a term of thirty-five years to the banking house of Hornblower & Weeks and will be specially constructed to meet the firm's requirements. The building will be six stories high. It will be of steel, brick and Indiana limestone construction and absolutely fireproof throughout.

This property contains 3,880 square feet of land and, as it stands today, is valued by the assessors at $457,000. The firm of Hornblower & Weeks was formed by Henry Hornblower and John W. Weeks in August, 1888, succeeding the firm of Mr. Hornblower's father, Hornblower & Page. At that time the services of one clerk were all that was found necessary. Business was first conducted at 51 State street, in the old Merchants' Exchange building, later at 22 Devonshire street, pending the erection of the present Exchange building, to which they removed in June, 1894, where they now occupy a large suit of offices. Today the firm is one of the largest in New England. It employs a large force and maintains offices in New York, Chicago, New Haven, Hartford, Newport and Providence. Its private wire service is said to be one of the most comprehensive and one of the largest used by any banking and brokerage firm in the country.

The members of the firm, numbering seven, are: Henry Hornblower, John W. Weeks, James J. Phelan (who was the clerk when the house was established nineteen years ago), James H. Walworth, Edward L. Geary, Andrew S. Woods and John W. Prentiss. Mr. Hornblower is vice president and one of the governors of the Boston Stock Exchange and director of the First National bank of Arlington.

Mr. Weeks is vice president of the First National bank of Boston, president of the Newtonville Trust company, congressman from the Twelfth Massachusetts and former mayor of Newton. Mr. Phelan is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange and vice president of the Federal Trust company, the other Boston resident partners being Mr. Geary and Mr. Woods.

Mr. Walworth is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, he and Mr. Prentiss being the New York resident partners.

Newton Single Tax Club

A gathering of this Club was held at the residence of the president, C. B. Fillebrown, 230 Bellevue street, on Monday evening, Mrs. J. C. F. Slayton and Mrs. E. W. Baxter received a household of members and their friends among whom were the following gentlemen, most of them accompanied by ladies:

Rev. F. S. Hatch of Brookline, late Acting Pastor of Eliot church, Prof. F. S. Baldwin of Boston University, Mr. H. G. McKerrow, Mr. M. C. Ayres, editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser, Mr. Harvey S. Chase, Mr. Mrs. H. W. Allen, old Single Taxers, and Mrs. West Newton, long of El Paso, Texas, Rev. John F. Brant of the Anti Saloon League, Mr. J. C. F. Slayton of Melrose, Mr. J. B. Jamieson, Mr. Carl T. Whittemore, Mr. Lewis E. Coffin, Mr. James G. Wildman, Mr. H. H. Soule, Mr. Howard B. Coffin, Dr. Jesse F. Frisbie, Dr. S. C. McLaughlin, Mr. Robert B. Capon, Single Taxer of Newton, late of Montreal, and Mr. J. B. Willis.

Mr. Fillebrown, after congratulating the Club upon its great improvement in numbers and appearance, called attention to an article in the March American Review of Reviews describing the advance abroad of the movement for the taxation of land "according to its market value." It was instanced that in Prussia 275 towns and villages have adopted the plan. A specific illustration was quoted of its working in the City of Spandau, where the tax upon the owner of extensive suburban lands worth several million marks was advanced in four years from $23 a year on revenue from potatoes and garden truck to $3330 a year for building lots.

Mr. Fillebrown then offered the following sentiment as expressing the spirit of the Single Tax movement:

"Our forefathers lived in a world of tallow candles and whale oil lamps and stage coaches. They saw the midnight landscape made bright as day by a lightning bolt from the heavens, and read about the earth's surface being rent asunder by the force of expanding vapor, yet the miracles of steam and electricity were to them a sealed book."

"The Newton Single Tax Club exists tonight by reason of a belief that we of this generation are blinder than our forefathers, in that we fail to see at our very thresholds the potentialities of a great social transformation just as unsuspected and just as marvellous as have been the revelations of a generation in the realms of modern science."

He then spoke as follows of

The proposed Presidential and Congressional plan of limiting fortunes and raising revenues by Inheritance and Income Taxes may, it is suggested, be greatly improved by two simple modifications, viz:—(1). Let fortunes be taxed chiefly in the process of their accumulation, rather than at probate, and (2) let the income tax be limited to those incomes which are not only unearned, but which are, now untaxed. Your consideration is invited to a few of the arguments upon these points.

It is substantially correct to say that wealth, as fast as produced, is divided into two parts; one part goes to wages of hand and brain, the other part goes to privilege. The greater the part that goes to wages the smaller the part that goes to privilege, and vice versa. The prime agency in determining how large shall be the part that goes to privilege is the private appropriation of ground rent, economic rent, in its various forms. The essence of privilege is the law-given power of one man to profit at another man's expense. A man gets rich, not out of his earnings, but out of his savings. If obliged to spend all his earnings it is not possible for him to accumulate riches. The poor man rebels, not because his rich neighbor can accumulate five hundred dollars to his one, but because, through the operation of this special privilege, it is at his, the poor man's expense, that the rich man's accumulation is made. Ex-Governor Long says that there will be discontent just so long as certain comforts and possessions are within the reach of one class and beyond the reach of another class. This discontent Archbishop O'Connell calls 'The Tumult of the Envious. But unprivileged men, whether unprivileged rich or unprivileged poor, have not far to look to find that discontent and envy start only where skill and enterprise leave off and special privilege begins. You are not envious of Edison, nor Marconi, nor Bessemer, nor railroad magnates, nor captains of industry: you gladly accord them princely rewards as public benefactors. It is only when people are called upon to provide an Edison fortune for every city and town in the country through privileged exaction that your discontent is aroused. It is only when they are required to superimpose upon an unprivileged steel fortune of three or four hundred million a privileged fortune of a thousand million, based upon economic rent, that the shoe begins to pinch. It is only when the ore baron, the coal baron, the oil baron, the railroad baron and the land baron are privileged to take ten dollars or a hundred dollars from their wages and add it to the monopoly price of coal and iron and oil that men are swayed by the 'tumult of the envious.'"

Legislation has been busy constituting criminal offenses. The air is charged with criminal prosecution and conviction where fortunes have been swelled through violation of law. But it is not true that neither Legislatures nor Courts have seriously addressed themselves to stopping the continuous drain of wealth from the pockets of the producers into the coffers of the privileged?

President Roosevelt in his last message enjoins upon Congress: "Let us not do what the next generation cannot undo. We have a right to the proper use of both the forests and the fuel during our lifetime, but we should not dispose of the birthright of our children." Mr. Bryan in his prediction of A Great Moral Awakening quotes the declaration of the United States Supreme Court that "an unjust tax is larceny in form of law." Unjust fortunes are, we say, the fruit of unjust taxes, taxes which subtract from wages and make almost impossible the savings of labor while augmenting the fortunes of privilege, or, to be more exact, unjust fortunes are due to the absence of just taxes.

But, it is asked, what are you going to do about it? We say, there is just one punishment to fit the crime, to wit: the taxation of privilege. Tax the oil and the coal, the franchise, and all other served Ladies' Night in the parlors of Channing church, Newton, last Thursday evening. There was a large attendance of members and their friends and an informal reception was held from 6.30 to 7 o'clock when dinner was served. The tables were arranged in a very attractive manner and during the dinner a musical program was rendered by an orchestra. President George Hutchinson presided at the business session.

The Nominating Committee presented the following list of officers and committees for the coming year which were elected: President, George Hutchinson; vice presidents, G. Fred Simpson, Dr. F. W. Webber; treasurer, Robert D. Holt; secretary, O. M. Fisher; executive committee, C. A. Clarke, chairman, James Kingman, A. L. Berry, F. W. Stone, H. C. Hansen; entertainment committee, G. A. Graves, chairman, W. H. Bacon, Seth C. Stevens; music committee, Henry T. Wade, chairman, Bruce R. Ware, Ralph C. Emery; membership committee, Dr. Charles L. Pearson, chairman, Levi P. Bowers, Ellery Peabody, A. W. Small, H. G. McKerrrow; reception committee, J. W. Fisher, chairman, S. W. Holmes, H. B. Schofield, G. Elkins, Arthur P. Lovett.

Mr. Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Transcript and formerly correspondent for that paper in Washington, signing his letters as Lincoln, spoke on the subject, "How Washington is Reported." His delightful address was largely reminiscent and was full of stories and personal experiences. He described the press headquarters at the White House the cordial relations which existed between the reporters and the President and stated that the chief executive, through his secretary and the various members of his cabinet, endeavors to give correct news for publication. Great changes have come in the last generation and, while in the past the reporters were satisfied to stay in the press gallery of the house and secure the more important speeches now the seat of power is on the floor of the senate or the house to be among the groups of men who talk over and carry through the great problems of national importance.

At the head table were seated President and Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. O'Brien, Rev. and Mrs. Julian C. Jaynes, Rev. A. L. Lindson, Rev. and Mrs. A. H. YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

Autos Collide

Three persons were thrown out and six others narrowly escaped injury in a head-on collision between two automobiles about dawn Tuesday morning on Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill. The cars came together with such force that the larger car telescoped the smaller, wrecking both machines.

The injured persons were N. F. Rae, Walter H. Burbank, and C. M. Hartley, of Boston, all of whom received cuts and bruises. After being attended by a Newton Centre doctor they were taken to their homes.

The larger car was going to Boston on the south side of the boulevard. It is No. 18,111, and is said to be owned by E. H. Munch of Brookline. The smaller car was going in the direction of Newton Centre, and according to witnesses of the accident was climbing the grade at a fair pace. This machine was numbered 13,077, and is said to be owned by B. B. Story of Brookline, and was driven by George H. Smith of Boston. Opposite the garage of Louis A. Vachon 199 Commonwealth avenue, the machines came together with a crash. According to those who saw the accident flames shot high into the air and one of the machines took fire. The larger car, which was going down the grade in the direction of Boston, telescoped the smaller machine, tearing away much of the upper part of Story's automobile and wrecking most of the running gear of Munch's car. The front wheels of both cars were smashed. In the smaller automobile were two unknown women, who it is believed must have jumped from the car a few moments before the collision. Fortunately they were uninjured and were able to return to their homes.

Smith also escaped from the machine with minor bruises. The large touring car was occupied by five men who gave their names as Rae, Burbank and Hartley, who were injured, and J. T. Gilmore and L. J. Perry.

A telephone message quickly brought a Newton Centre doctor, who took Rae, Burbank and Hartley to his home for treatment. Several hours later they were able to be taken to their homes. Both automobiles were hauled to a garage for repairs.

To organize the free Armenians throughout the world, except those in Turkey and Russia, into a league with one head, to formulate a definite line of action was advocated as the best method of that race gaining its freedom by William T. Stead, the famous London editor and peace advocate, in an informal speech in this city Sunday night.

This plan was unfolded in a meeting of some of the best known Armenians of Greater Boston held at the residence of M. H. Gulesian, 85 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill. The suggestion of the famous peace advocate was seriously received, and it is likely that preliminary plans along the lines suggested will shortly be made.

Punctuated by frequent flashes of wit and clever observations Mr. Stead's remarks kept his audience in the best of humor, but underlying all his statements was sound advice, intelligent explanations of the grave situation and significant facts gathered by his personal visits to the czar of Russia.

In introducing Mr. Stead Mr. Gulesian called him the best friend the Armenian race has. Mrs. Eliza Webber Farquhar, the widow of John Farquhar, who died April 16 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Furber of Milton at the ripe age of ninety-four years and six months, was a woman who will be well and gratefully remembered in Newton, Holliston and Milton, where she had lived an active and useful life. Very old citizens of Boston, also will recall that in the forties she was prominent in the Federal Street Baptist Church, of which her husband was a deacon.

Mrs. Farquhar was born in Norway, Me., and her maiden name was Eliza Ann Webber. In 1836 John Farquhar established the John Farquhar & Sons Company at 22 East street, which has been in business on the same spot from that day to the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Farquhar were married at Oxford, Me. in 1837, and came by stage coach to Boston; here they lived in Mahan church and later in Boylston place in houses which are still standing. After a time, however, they removed to Newton and then to Holliston. In 1887, just as they were about to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary, Mr. Farquhar died, and since then Mrs. Farquhar had made her home with her younger daughter in Milton. From her youth Mrs. Farquhar was active in the Baptist church wherever she happened to live, giving generously of her time, strength and means.

She is survived by four sons and two daughters. Samuel Farquhar of Newton, Joseph Farquhar of Brookline, Rollin Farquhar of Dorchester and Charles Farquhar of Allston. Mrs. Henry T. Bartlett of New York and Mrs. Charles H. Furber of Milton. Another son, David W. Farquhar of Newton died a few years ago. Mrs. Farquhar leaves also two sisters, Miss Sarah Webber and Miss Laura Webber of Boston.

Mr. Putnam Dead

Mr. Henry E. Putnam, for some years proprietor of the Evans cafe, died last Friday in Washington, D. C., after a long period of failing health. He is survived by a widow and two sons. The funeral and interment took place at Worcester Tuesday afternoon.

Federation Bazaar

Now that the date of the Bazaar, May 15 to 18, is settled upon, all the committees are bending their energies toward completion of plans. At the meeting of the executive committee on Monday various matters relative to admission fees were discussed at length. Season admission tickets will be sold for a nominal sum and will entitle the holder to admission as many times as is desired during the week. There will also be single tickets good for once only. Both kinds will admit only to the house and grounds there being special tickets for the loan collection and for the three evening entertainments.

A feature of great interest will be the exhibit of Consumers' League goods under the management of the Social Science Club. As is well known by Newton women, the Consumers' League label certifies that the goods which carry it have been made in clean and safe factories under good conditions, and that the manufacturers who use the label employ no children and give out no work to be made up outside the factories. Thus, the purchaser who insists on garments bearing the Consumers' League label effectively registers her opposition to child-labor, and tenement house work and indicates her practical interest in clean and safe conditions of employment.

For years, most of the best of our Boston stores have displayed on their counters Consumers' League goods, but even conscientious purchasers often forget to ask for them and then it follows that the manufacturers with right to use, the label, to affix it to their goods, stop, and presently members of the League ask why they no longer find in the stores a variety of garments bearing labels.

The exhibit at the Bazaar is designed to answer this question. It will consist in selected garments of all styles and prices which have been found on the counters of our stores. Each garment will be plainly marked with its price and the name of the store at which it has been bought; so that a duplicate of it may be purchased the next day. It is hoped to demonstrate in this way that the campaign of the Consumers' League for right conditions of work is one in which every conscientious woman may and must lend aid.

The monthly business meeting and the last one of the season for the Social Science Club will be held on Wednesday, May first.

The Executive Committee of the Federation Bazaar will meet at Mrs. Wilkins' on Monday, April 29, at 2.30.

The annual meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Tuesday, May 7, at 2.30, in the parlors of the New Church, Newtonville. Annual reports, election of officers and the reports of the presidents of the various clubs. The Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands has recently joined the Federation. Probably one or two others will be admitted to the Federation on that day.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met on April 22 and enjoyed a paper upon "Books Old and New" by Miss Ida C. Allen. Tea was served at the close and a social time followed.

The annual meeting of the Review Club was held on April 16. After the transaction of business, discussion of plans for the Newton Federation Bazaar and the reading of the annual reports, a vote of thanks was passed to the Librarian of the Newton Library for her kind and valuable assistance in selecting books and photographs for the use of the Review Club.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. Vine D. Baldwin, president; Mrs. Henry G. Hildreth, vice president; Mrs. Amos R. Wells, secretary; Mrs. William Fuller, treasurer; executive committee, Miss H. Louise Peloubet, Miss Margaret Haskell, Mrs. W. J. Spaulding; delegates to the Newton Federation, Miss Ellen C. Williams, general delegate, Mrs. Henry R. Turner, social committee, Mrs. Mary E. Herron, Social Service Committee, Mrs. Edward Almy, Nominating Committee, Miss Ella B. Smith, School Suffrage Committee.

The club will have Modern Art as the subject of the next year's study.

Donation Party

He will be assisted by Miss Evelyn G. Blair, soprano at First Baptist church. Among other things Mr. Loud will play Lemmen's "Storm Fantasia" introducing the thunder storm.

The sale of the desirable residential property corner of Woodland and Studio roads, Auburndale, has been reported. This property consists of a modern frame house of 12 rooms and about 23000 feet of land. The grantor is Alice H. Hackett and the purchaser Dr. C. H. Warren, professor in the Institute of Technology. The price paid is $100,000 other considerations. Professor Warren contemplates making extensive alterations and additions. The broker in the deal was E. Arthur Robinson.

How to Keep the Kitchen Cool and Comfortable in Mid-Summer

Many a housewife is wondering how she will pass through the coming summer months with the stove she well knows will make the kitchen unbearably hot-to say nothing of the dirt, dust and ashes that will add to the discomfort.

There is a way out of it all—a way that not only lessens the work and keeps the kitchen cool, but that also reduces fuel expense. This convenience, comfort and economy is all effected by the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove, an oil stove so superior to other makes that it is fast replacing the coal and wood range, the old-fashioned oil stove, and in many cases the gas stove.

The New Perfection is made in three sizes, with one, two, and three burners, and is warranted to give full satisfaction.

Another home comfort is the Rayo Lamp, which produces a light of unusual brightness, yet soft and mellow—a light that will not hurt the eyes. The Rayo Lamp can be used in any room, whether it be library, dining-room, parlor or bedroom. It is ornamental, being made of brass throughout and beautifully nickelled.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove and the Rayo Lamp are two real essentials to home comfort. Their easy operation, absolute safety and handsome appearance commend them wherever stoves and lamps are used.

Base Ball.

The ball teams of the Empire Laundry Machine Co., and Silver Lake Co., crossed bats on the Cabot Park diamond on Saturday Both teams made a creditable showing notwithstanding the bad weather. The game resulted in a victory for the Empires with a score of 13 to 9. The battery work of DePass and Burquest for the losers was very commendable.

In their opening game of the season the Newton Independents cleverly put the Indian sign on the Nonantums, 23 to 3, on the Cabot park grounds Friday afternoon. The game was to have been the first of a series for a purse of $100, but owing to the storm it was counted out of the exhibition series. Sullivan was in the box for the Independents and put up an excellent contest, allowing but four hits. Ryan was hit hard, being in the box for the Nonantums, 25 hits being made off his delivery. The Independents made three errors and the Nonantums six. The contest was played in a brisk snow flurry, followed by a rain storm.

THEATRES

Globe Theatre—Next Monday evening, April 29, John Craig and his stock company will inaugurate their second summer season at the Globe Theatre in a big production of "The Heart of Maryland" for which the most careful preparations have been made during the past few weeks. In the return to Boston of Mr. Craig's company after a spring tour through some of the near-by cities the theatregoing public has manifested the greatest interest and the box office of the Globe Theatre has been besieged with inquiries as to Mr. Craig's plans.

MR. JAMES K. HACKETT

new members of his company, the names of the plays to be produced, etc. "The Heart of Maryland," which is probably one of the most popular plays that David Belasco ever wrote, is a war drama teeming with excitement. The leading role, Maryland Calvert, a role which has been made famous by Mrs. Leslie Carter, will be played by Mary Young, who may be depended upon to give a strong interpretation. Mr. Craig will play Colonel Alan Kendrick. Other favorites who will be in the cast are Thomas MacLarnie, William Evans, Herbert Yost, Jarvis Jocelyn, Ben Johnson, who has been especially engaged for this production, Robert C. Turner, William Warren, J. L. Seeley, Frederic Murray, Russell Clark, Mary Sanders and Aileen Dunn.

Tremont Theatre—The last week of Mr. James K. Hackett at the Tremont Theatre will be inaugurated on Monday evening. During the week the final performances of Mr. Alfred Sutro's great society play, "The Walls of Jericho" will be given, thereby concluding the seventh week of the play in Boston. Mr. Hackett has done nothing during his interesting career that has brought him quite so much personal glory as his performance of Jack Froisher in "The Walls of Jericho." Mr. Hackett's company this season is one that is of great service to the play. Miss Beatrice Beckley is Mr.

Hackett's leading lady and Mrs. Sam Sothern, who appeared in Boston in a highly emotional role in "The Truth" earlier in the season, is now seen in a comedy role which she plays with much spirit. It is interesting to note Mr. Hackett's plans for the future. When his season is concluded, he will spend some time in Alaska on a hunting expedition. Then Mr. Hackett will head his way to London to confer with Mr. Sutro regarding the production in America of his latest play "John Gayde's Honor." In Paris, Mr. Hackett will see "Wolf's new play "Le Rousseau" for which Mr. Hackett has already secured the American rights for this play.

delightful musical program for a second week, will all have prominent places on the bill. The Zarnes, Roman ring performers; Tempest and Sunshine, two clever soubrettes; Whitman and Davis, in a snappy comedy sketch; Usher and Patterson, ragtimers, and the Kinetograph will round out the show.

DEAR GRAPHIC: As I leave for a new home, will you allow me through your columns to extend thanks to the numerous friends and pupils in West Newton for the kindness that has rendered my stay of forty-seven years among them a period of exceptional happiness. Especially would I express gratitude for the universal sympathy shown me during the stress and bereavement of the last few weeks.

forms of economic rent, at its fixed initial source, the land, which, without inquisitorial or dooming process, bears always the imprint of its own market valuation. Tax, not private ownership nor corporate franchise, but tax the privilege attached thereto. The colossal waste of the century is the private appropriation, instead of the taxation of rent. This it is that makes the shopping district of Boston a continuous battlefield for the business interests of her people and every battle a Waterloo.

For the prevention of unjust fortunes a natural process is already provided. For an equitable reduction of accumulated fortunes artificial machinery remains to be invented. President Roosevelt in his message confesses that the question of an income tax is "very intricate, delicate and troublesome." To seem that the proposed dissipation of fortunes by means of an Inheritance Tax must prove awkward and of questionable justice, besides discouraging enterprise at its point of greatest efficiency, and in the midst of a beneficent career. It would discourage the accumulation of unprivileged fortunes, which are a blessing in proportion to their size.

It is a fundamental principle of economics that the expenditure, and activity of society express themselves in economic rent, the value of land. A tax upon rent subtracts from wages, and, however large that tax may be, it cannot remain a burden upon the owner beyond a general most. Land value, otherwise perishable, is made imperishable by public conservation. Hence the plea that the whole tax, whether inheritance or income, be gradually transferred to this one basis. Whether it shall be imposed lightly, as a life rate, or heavily, as a death rate, is merely a question of method. In either case it will soon cease to be a burden upon any one.

Unjust fortunes are made out of ground rent accumulated and compounded. They can be perpetuated only by the private appropriation of ground rent; cut off from ground rent, the public nutriment, they will quickly crumble and perish from the face of the earth.

Mr. Carnegie says: "Who made the 'wealth' of the Manhattan Island farm? The community, the population, the people. Then you tell me that wealth is sacred. I say that the community was the leading partner that made that wealth. It was hundreds of people settling up there, thousands of people settling around there, and here are these millionaires. They have toiled not, neither have they spun." Is it not sensible to make such cumulative fortunes as these the basis of live taxation?

Congressman Perkins, supporting his own tax measure, says of the man who got rich out of a Manhattan farm: The State has been an essential partner in his success. * * * The State has the inherent right to levy upon it such a tax as may fairly represent what the people may have contributed toward the fortune." This is Single Tax pure and unadulterated.

President Roosevelt cannot eliminate "intricacy, delicacy and troublesomeness" from his income tax until he learns to distinguish sharply between capital and privilege, between incomes that are earned and those that are unearned.

Mayor Fitzgerald can never provide for the greater needs of a greater Boston so long as he continues to ignore the forty million dollars of unearned and untaxed annual income in the City of Boston.

Rev. F. S. Hatch protested against the present system of taxation as immoral because it fined men for building better houses with more comforts and finer appointments, and because it made evasion and perjury almost unavoidable even for otherwise honest men. He portrayed interestingly the social regeneration which, to his mind, the reform of Henry George would in the fullness of time bring about.

Prof. Baldwin commended the agitation of the single tax, and expressed his conviction in the soundness of the principle of the taxation of land values or the unearned increment as the line upon which the world is now moving. He would retain inheritance taxes, and was not sure that it was wise to abolish all other taxes.

Mr. McKerrow gave a very interesting account of the status of land tenure in England, where the title is so subdivided that it is not easy to determine who is the owner that should pay the land tax. He had no doubt that the movement for a heavier taxation of land values, such as is now agitated by British Ministry and Parliament, was a just one.

Mr. Ayres was "for the administration" and took upon himself the oath of allegiance to the single tax principle, which he believed to be sound.

Mr. Chase believed that in ground rent, or land value, is to be found the source of gradual increased future revenue, but was not sure that in a small town with a large shoe manufacturing contemplated plan to take taxes off the shoe factory and put them upon the land would not work injustice to some other interest.

Mr. Chase's question gave rise to profitable discussion participated in by Mrs. Jas. E. Mills, and Messrs. Allen, Capon, Slayton, Jamieson and Willis.

Pastor's Reception

A delightful occasion, full of Christian spirit and good fellowship, was the reception given at the First Baptist church last Wednesday evening to the new pastor Rev. Maurice A. Levy and Mrs. Levy. Nearly 400 members of the parish were present and Rev. and Mrs. Levy were assisted in receiving during the evening by Deacon and Mrs. Porter, Deacon and Mrs. Chester, Rev. Dr. J. M. English, Mrs. M. Grant Edmonds and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Shannon. The ushers were the young men of the church and music was provided by a mandolin orchestra. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening. An interesting feature was the reading of congratulatory letters from two former pastors, Rev. W. N. Clarke D. D. of the Colgate Theological Seminary, Hamilton, N. Y., and Rev. L. Call Barnes, D. D. of Worcester.

What a Difference.

The NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE is manufactured to do a lifelong service. What a difference in the working parts of the NEW HOME and many that are being offered whose working parts are "stamped" from inferior metal. When you purchase, get the best, and if you get the NEW HOME you will have it.
